STAND REAFFIRMED

Second Attempt to Gain Entrance Blocked by Group Late Today

Holding a meeting from which newspaper reporters were excluded, the board of directors of the Orange county farm bureau late today began the task of determining to what extent the organization will be active in the forthcoming campaign for a $6,620,000 bond issue to help finance the county water program

The board reaffirmed its policy of holding star chamber sessions when a reporter from The Journal entered the room and requested an opportunity to give the farmers and general public a first hand story of what took place at the meeting.

J. W. Crill of Garden Grove, president of the farm bureau, explained that the board has taken this position because of the feeling that reports of individual opinions expressed at board meetings might prove embarrassing to those who expressed them.

Smith Explains Program

News of the morning developments was made public by Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the organization. He said that Supervisor Willard Smith of Orange explained the present status of the water program and would resume his discussion in the afternoon.

In urging that reporters be allowed to attend board meetings, The Journal representative said that the farm bureau represents the farmers of Orange county, who are to be called to vote for the water bonds. Not only they but the general public as well are vitally interested in the subject and the farm bureau position, he said.

One Instance Recalled

The Journal reporter explained that it is much easier to give the public a complete and accurate account of developments if he is present and hears everything that is said. When information is secured second hand, he added, there is an unavoidable danger of misunderstanding and misinterpretation. He referred to one such instance which occurred recently, which reacted against the interests of the farm bureau. No of-

Drunk? No, Only Eating Toffy! Suspect Freed

DENVER, Sept. 5. (AP)—Dr. George Glen was charged with driving while intoxicated after Patrolman Thomas McHugh testified the man had a strong odor of liquor on his breath when arrested.

"The odor wasn't liquor, it was rum toffy candy," insisted the defendant. He tossed a piece of it to Judge Ellett N. Shepherd. "Try it," he advised. The judge did.

"Judge, you smell like you'd had four or five good snorts," said Assistant City Attorney Joseph Lilly.

"Case dismissed," ruled Judge Shepherd.

Santa Fe Springs Breeders Use Radio to Save Cattle Stricken With Pneumonia

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Radio scores another miracle, this time to snatch pneumonia-afflicted cattle back from the grave.

At the Hathaway feeding yards near Santa Fe Springs they received a shipment of thoroughbred Hereford calves from Denver. Lobar pneumonia had eight of the animals in its grip. One of them died shortly after arrival. Another was in the final stages of suffering. The case was regarded as hopeless. A hole was dug, ready to receive the carcass.

According to the story told to The Journal yesterday by J. E. Hathaway, veterinarians offered no hope that any of the calves could be saved. No sure treatment was known. The ranch faced the loss of seven valuable Herefords.

Then Mr. Hathaway heard of a new short wave radio treatment being used successfully in treatment of pneumonia. But this was for human beings, not for cattle. So far as he knew, it never had been tried on animals. Nevertheless, in desperation, a search was started for one of the radio sets. It was found that two sets were in use at the White Memorial hospital in Los Angeles.

Through this institution, Mr. Hathaway said, the

CRATER CASE IS REVIVED

Wife 'Knows Plenty' in Judge's Mystery, Is Husband's Charge

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—A sensational disclosure in the disappearance Aug. 6, 1930, of Joseph Force Crater, justice of the New York supreme court, was made today by Maurice L. Kusell, dance director, who filed a divorce complaint against Jayne Manners, actress, setting forth that she claimed to "know plenty" about the case.

Kusell stated in his complaint that his wife told him her real name was June Manners, that she was one of the women who figured in Justice Crater's life, and that what she knew about the disappearance, one of the biggest unsolved cases in many years, "would blow up the entire affair."

Kusell stated that his wife previously boasted of her connection with the Crater case and warned him that if she were displeased with him at any time, "something might happen" to him, also.

Kusell won an interlocutory decree of divorce last June, charging his wife had stabbed him with a butcher knife in a quarrel. Miss Manners left the state temporarily, but returned to have the decree set aside on the ground she had lived with Kusell after he obtained the decree.

ALL RESCUED FROM DIXIE

Last of Passengers on Stricken Liner Taken to Other Craft

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—Swiftly and uneventfully, the last group of passengers was removed today from the stranded and battered liner Dixie, their perilous prison since last Monday night.

In less than three hours, the last of the 143 marooned passengers were transferred.

The lifeboats shuttled over placid waters, the howling hurricane that crippled the Dixie and ground her against the talons of French reef, death trap of the Florida keys, having spent its force.

Captain Stays On

Aboard the hapless Dixie, still pinioned to the reef, remained Capt. E. W. Sundstrom and a skeleton crew. Captain Sundstrom, who thinks there has been no decadence among seafaring men—that masters of modern vessels are just as cool and efficient as the skippers of the old time sailing ships—stayed with his ship that the Morgan line might keep possession of her.

All of the passengers gone, he wirelessed coast guard offices at Jacksonville that it was no longer necessary for cutters to stand by the Dixie. "All passengers and crew that were to leave off at 8:50 a. m.," he wirelessed.

The transfer of those who remained on the Dixie was carried out with celerity, messages from the Dixie's master indicated.

RESUME STORM DRAIN WORK

Work on the Villa Park storm drain, a State Emergency Relief administration project, will be resumed tomorrow. Terrence Halloran, SERA director here, received authority from state headquarters today to continue the project until September 12.

The reason for the continuance is to finish up certain work which, if incomplete for a long period, would create a hazard, Mr. Halloran said. Approximately 140 men will be employed on the job.

FEAR FLORIDA TOLL NEAR 1000 MARK

President Orders Full Care by Federal Units for Injured Vets

STORM TURNS NORTH

Governor Sholz Starts on Tour of Stricken District in Keys

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 5.—A trail of death and destruction cut by the tropical hurricane across the Florida Keys, relief officials estimated today, is marked with a total of 200 to 500 lives and possibly "may reach 1000."

President Roosevelt took a direct hand in speeding relief and rehabilitation for the storm struck region, where war veterans in FERA camps were tragic victims, by issuing an order from his Hyde Park home that the ex-soldiers be given full care by federal forces.

The President telephoned Frank T. Hines, veterans' administrator, and Harry L. Hopkins, Works Relief administrator, and asked that they name assistants to go immediately to the Florida disaster scene.

Outlines Procedure

Mr. Roosevelt outlined three specific points for the federal leaders to perform:

First, to see that the injured veterans are promptly hospitalized. He understands the Red Cross is supplying food, clothing and shelter but has offered to assist in this if necessary.

Second, to provide caskets for the dead veterans and transportation of their bodies. If the next of kin desire, the body will be sent home. Otherwise, full military funerals probably will be arranged for Arlington national cemetery.

Third, the President called for means to rehabilitate the survivors. Then he insisted quite strongly upon a study of why the veterans encamped along the Florida Keys were not rescued in time and why adequate precautions were not taken.

Hurricane Moves North

The hurricane, dwindling in power, soared north through Georgia, as Florida rescue corps moved into the stricken regions amid scenes of horror and desolation.

Fifty-one bodies, few identified, lay in a morgue here, as the difficult mission of bringing aid to the injured and marooned victims was speeded to the coastal regions where the storm was most severe.

Countless injured were reported strewn through the Keys, battered and torn through almost four days of swirling winds and rains.

He Was Town's 'Courthouse Pest'

Black Grew Up to Pester Washington Lobby

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—In Ashland, Ala., some elderly attorneys are exchanging a few grinning "I told you so's" about the little shining-faced Hugo Black they knew years ago as a persistent but amusing little pest.

Summer vacations found him constantly under heel at the red brick courthouse. He was one of nine orphans living with aunts and uncles. He sat in the courthouse absorbed as cases were tried. He cornered attorneys to ask "What next?" He hero-worshipped. He dug through law books instead of playing baseball.

Now crowds wait in the senate office building to hear Senator Hugo Black democrat of Alabama, direct the questions which are piecing together a picture of the jigsaw puzzle of lobbying in Washington. Black is chairman of the senate's lobby investigation.

Smiles Innocently

He looks much like the shining-faced boy who tagged the lawyers he admired, although he is 49 years old now. He still is persistent, and — judging from the squirming of some witnesses before him—still something of a pest.

He smiles innocently as he brings out of a witness the large salary he is paid for representing a utility company here. He chews an unlighted cigar as he talks. His eyes sparkle and the more difficult a witness becomes the more Black seems to enjoy it.

When a witness becomes addicted to the answer, "I don't remember," Black pounds away: "Who did you say was in the dinner party?" "What did you talk about?" "Well, what did 'A' say to 'B'?" "Now this dinner was only 24 hours ago. Can't you remember what happened?" "Let me see, what did you say your salary is?"

Questions Large Salaries

Black's questions stiy persistently after the matter of large salaries and bonuses. He has been against them for years. When the first RFC act was passed he proposed an amendment attempting to limit salaries in companies borrowing from the government to $17,500. The amendment failed. Since then he has raised the ante to $50,000, and then to $100,000. But still without success.

He was a fighting friend to TVA. He championed the 30-hour week. He can't see "anything glamorous in war" although he was a captain in field artillery.

"All we ever need to stop abuses," he says, "is an informed public."

Two Sources Deny City Tax Bill is 41 Per Cent Higher

Banks Shows How Gain $8.60, and Not $41 as Was Reported

City Auditor Lloyd Banks today blasted current reports that Santa Ana taxpayers this year will pay $141 in taxes where they paid $100 last year. These reports are obviously erroneous, Mr. Banks said.

The real "lowdown" on the tax situation is that those who paid $100 last year will pay $108.60 this year, he stated, saying the increase will be $8.60 instead of $41. The intelligent observer of tax matters will recognize a considerable difference in these figures, he declared.

Bills Increase

The fact that there will be an actual increase in the size of tax bills despite a decrease in rates is a result of the fact that assessed valuations were increased 35 per cent by the state board of equalization this year. In other words, property with an assessed value of $1000 last year will have an assessed value of $1350 this year, he explained.

"Residents of this city pay a

Reports Published Here Yesterday Draw Fire of Supervisor Jerome

Published criticisms of Orange county and Santa Ana tax rates and charges that city and county taxes this year would be 41 per cent higher than last year were attacked and denied in no uncertain terms today by Supervisor W. C. Jerome.

In an interview today he declared:

"Last night there appeared in a local newspaper a statement that I believe is about as poor publicity and as harmful, not only to the peace of mind of our citizens, but to the reputation of the community for good business as it would be possible to print.

Cites Statement

"The statement was that our taxpayers would find their city and county taxes increased 41 per cent and that the taxpayers who paid $100 last year would be called upon to pay $141 this year.

"Then followed an analysis of Santa Ana's tax set-up showing an increase from $17.50 for city purposes to $20.92 on property valued at $1000 last year. This was the only truthful statement in the article.

For obvious reasons they did not analyze the county taxes which would have showed the following: The taxpayer last year paid $9.20 on property valued at $1000. This year on the same property the valuation is $1350 and at a 69-cent rate the tax will be $9.31. The combined city and county tax last year on the property was $26.70. This year it will be $30.23 or an increase of $3.53 which is a

DELEGATE OF ITALY SNUBS ETHIOPIA

Aloisi Walks Out When Jeze Starts Defense of African Empire

SUSPENSION SOUGHT

Mussolini's Men Asking Delay; Want to Talk by Phone With Rome

GENEVA, Sept. 5. (AP)—Prof. Gaston Jeze, the representative of Ethiopia, spoke in behalf of the African empire tonight in the council of the League of Nations. When he rose to begin his address, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italian delegate, left the chamber.

Until Jeze started his speech, Aloisi had sat at the council table. He declared yesterday Italy could not longer meet Ethiopia in the league on a basis of equal footing.

Sudden Session

Tonight's session was called suddenly after the representatives of the various nations had spent the day in private discussions of the crisis between Italy and Ethiopia.

Most particularly, they were concerned with Baron Aloisi's statement yesterday that Ethiopia was a barbarous, uncivilized nation which should not be permitted a seat with other countries.

Professor Jeze's speech was in answer to Aloisi's allegations.

As soon as Aloisi left, his seat was taken by an Italian underdelegate.

Ethiopia 'Mad Dog'

Jeze launched into a defense of Ethiopia. He said Italy seemed to regard Ethiopia "as a mad dog."

He declared Ethiopia was menaced by an aggression and appeared to be in mortal danger.

"We ask," he said, "for the treatment of the dispute under article 15 of the League of Nations covenant." He also demanded quick action by the council under article 10, by which the signatory nations pledged themselves to respect the integrity and political independence of other members of the league.

Said Jeze: "Do not hesitate because Ethiopia is feeble and Italy all power."

"The question," he continued, "is whether a war of extermination will soon be launched. The council must not procrastinate because Italy may let loose her army."

He characterized Italy's accusation against Ethiopia as wholly unjust and said he wished to voice an indignant protest.

An Italian spokesman announced that Italy was asking the suspension of the League of Nations council session until after a telephonic conference with Premier Mussolini.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (AP)—Patrolman Walter Mitchell observed a tattered beggar sob bitterly when passersby ignored his outstretched hand.

Questioned, the mendicant talked of suicide and the officer took him in custody for safekeeping.

Prize Canine 'Dognaped' Here as Owner Looks on

Sam, the black German shepherd dog owned by J. J. C. Robinson, 718 East Second street, was "dognaped" last night while he was carrying home his supper.

Mr. Robinson, distressed by his loss, came to The Journal today to ask that news of the loss be broadcast.

It was at about 7:30 o'clock when the "dognaping" occurred at Second and Lacy streets. Sam and Mr. Robinson had been to the market to buy meat for Sam's larder. Sam was carrying the package in his mouth, trotting ahead of his master.

A car, driven by a woman, stopped at the curb. A large man in shirt sleeves got out.

"I want that dog!" he said. Mr. Robnison said he thought the man was joking.

But the stranger grabbed the animal by the collar and dragged it into the automobile. The owner was so surprised that, before he could interfere, the car sped away. As the machine went under a street light, he obtained the license number.

Mr. Robinson said Sam is 15 months old and carefully trained.

"I wouldn't take $500 for him," said the owner. He offered to pay a reasonable reward for the dog's return or information leading to his whereabouts.

45 FEDERAL VIOLATIONS HELD TO AIR LINE IN BRONSON DEATH

RADIO WASN'T INSPECTED, IS CHARGE

Albuquerque Crew Failed to Determine Why Set Did Not Work, Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—More than 45 violations of federal communication commission regulations by transcontinental and Western Air lines were reported today after an investigation into an airplane accident May 6 in which Senator Bronson Cutting (R.-N. M.) and several other passengers were killed.

The report, however, stated the cause of the accident was not failure of the company's radio system to function.

Among other things in the F. C. C. report were statements that:

Radio technicians at Los Angeles and Albuquerque failed to inspect transmitting equipment enough to determine why the plane's set did not work; that the failure of the two-way receiver to operate satisfactorily was probably due to negligence of personnel at Albuquerque; that the ground station personnel at almost all stations between Kansas City and Los Angeles did not observe commission regulations regarding station logs; that in four cases ground stations were negligent in attempting to communicate with the plane on regular schedule; that the radio personnel particularly at Kansas City, was too engaged with other work to make proper log entries and that inspection of the radio equipment prior to the plane's departure from Los Angeles probably would not have revealed the defect in the transmitter.

trifle over 13 per cent and not 41 per cent, and the county increase was a little less than one-half of one per cent and not 28.5 per cent as stated in the article.

(The above rates do not include school and district taxes, and refer only to city and county taxes).

Both Boards Obligated

"The article also criticizes the city trustees for providing for a debt that the state supreme court has held they must pay. Both boards find themselves in this position—they must pay the obligations that were created by their predecessors.

"In another article signed by J. Allen Knapp there was a long statement supposedly intended as a boost for Contra Costa county and criticism of local tax authorities.

"I am perfectly willing that any man, who is a tax analyst, take the figures for both counties, including valuations, increases and operative property, together with their rates, and compare them. I am positive that the deductions will be favorable to Orange county.

"Knowing the state as I do, I know that there will be no tax rate for any county comparable to that of Orange county."

total tax based on rates for city, county, school, flood control, Metropolitan Water district, harbor bonds and cemetery purposes. These combined rates last year amounted to $5.32. On an assessed valuation of $1000 last year the taxpayer thus paid $53.20 in taxes," Mr. Banks said.

Only $4.58 Increase

"This year the combined rates amount to $4.28. If the assessed valuation had remained on last year's basis, the taxpayers would have paid $42.80 on his $1000 assessed valuation. However, the assessed valuation was increased 35 per cent, changing a $1000 valuation to $1350. This means that instead of paying $42.80 the taxpayer will pay $57.78 this year where he paid $53.20 last year. The actual increase in money will be approximately $4.58 on the tax bill.

"The percentage of increase is approximately 8.6, so that where the taxpayer paid a $100 bill last year he will pay $108.60 this year. If his property happened to be assessed at exactly $1000 last year, he paid $53.20, and this year, with the increase in assessed values, he would pay $57.78."

MORE ABOUT HURRICANE

son at Lakeland telegraphed Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for an investigation into reported deaths among war veterans in FERA work camps on Upper and Lower Matecumbe Keys.

A similar request went to President Roosevelt last night from the Miami chamber of commerce and the Coral Gables post of the American Legion.

"I want to find out why they didn't evacuate those islands," Peterson said. "They had plenty of notice and I want to fix the responsibility. I will follow the matter vigorously."

The storm curled into Georgia with drenching rains and stiff winds, but damage in towns was mostly confined to fallen trees and signs. Extensive damage to peanut and pecan crops was reported in some localities.

Job to Find Bodies

Weather bureaus at Thomasville and Quitman reported wind velocity at between 35 and 45 miles an hour. The storm was expected to veer towards Macon and then whirl across Savannah, the Carolinas and out to sea.

Despite torn up railroads and washed away bridges, Red Cross and coast guards workers hurried their relief task on the stricken Florida Keys. "The next problem is to find and remove the bodies," Coast Guard Commander H. C. Perkins, said.

State department of health officials said that the work of caring for survivors of the hurricane on the Upper and Lower Matecumbe Keys was "pretty well in hand."

The bodies in the morgue here were of men, except for those of one woman and two small girls.

No Definite Estimate

So devastating was the storm that today, more than 60 hours after it struck, no definite estimate of the dead, missing and injured could be made.

Dr. Leonard K. Thompson, Red Cross relief chairman in the Keys hurricane area, reported to Washington that he believed the toll of dead would be less than 200.

Dr. Joe Stewart, who made an aerial survey of the stricken places, placed the total at not in excess of 300.

Capt. P. T. Branking, master of the yacht Byronic, which made a rescue voyage to the Keys, declared the number of dead would be at least 500. He was supported in that estimate by Capt. J. Pugh, who served with him on the yacht, and other members of the crew.

Jack Combs, a Miami undertaker who led a rescue expedition, said the dead would number between 400 and 500.

See Bodies About

All apparently based their estimates on bodies seen by them strewn about, hung in trees or half buried under wreckage. In addition, they had the horrible word pictures from survivors who told of seeing many swept to sea on the tidal wave.

Accurate determination of the dead in the three veterans' camps will depend on an accounting of the 675 men on the rosters. Many of them were reported to have been on leaves of absence when the storm struck.

Washed out bridges hampered rescue workers on the Upper and Lower Matecumbe Keys, where most of the veterans were camped, and held them back from lower Keys, leaving the fate of the few residents in the latter in doubt.

Only Dozen Alive

Only a dozen veterans were found alive in camp No. 5, where 185 were on the roster. Of 243 enrolled at camp No. 3, 23 were reported on furlough and 133 were accounted for. The fate of the remaining 87 was not known.

A private yacht brought 52 of the injured veterans to Miami for hospitalization. Among them was Top Sergeant P. Pugh of Camp 3. He and 70 others clung to a water tank car all through the night Monday.

"Men who have known all the rough edges of life," said Sergeant Pugh, "who hadn't thought of God in years, prayed that night. I heard them muttering prayers as they held to the car and tracks, with debris pelting their bodies."

Battered to Death

He told how the hurricane with a sudden swift puff blew up the rails at either end of the tank car. At the same time, he said, the tidal wave rolled in, covered the car and tumbled men who were not clinging to it back into the mangroves where many were battered to death.

Then men on the car continued to cling to it.

"Then the wind stoped and the stars came out, but it was just a lull. It lasted about 40 minutes. Then it really started blowing."

Pugh said he and the others who were saved would always remember "good old tank car No. 3390."

Hear of 75 Dead

Impaired communications still left the casualty toll in doubt at Rock Harbor, a temporary camp for the veterans on Plantation Key, where by means of shouts across the water rescue workers heard that 75 were dead.

Camp No. 1 on upper Matecumbe was demolished.

"Storm area appears as if broom swept 40-mile swash through keys," William Dokey, who flew over the area, reported by radio to his home base. "Several small craft blown ashore. Flying low, saw woman sitting on wreckage of home on isolated key with one child near her."

Pilot Roy Keller saw 20 miles of track of the Florida East Coast railroad torn up.

125-Mile Wind

John Purvis, lighthouse keeper at Alligator Light, said the storm seemed to center over Matecumbe and Tavernier for more than five hours with the wind at a maximum velocity of 125 miles an hour.

A station master at Islamorada said he counted 150 bodies, but relief officials believed he included veterans dead on Plantation and Matecumbe Keys.

Prior to this announcement, Italian delegates said unofficially they would demand the session's suspension to see what should be done concerning "Ethiopia's defamatory and insulting remarks about Italy."

Italian officials said they believed the fact two Italian delegates had walked out of the council chamber did not necessarily mean Italy would leave the League of Nations.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia told the assembled members the league was confronted with the direct menace of military operations.

"Italy," declared Litvinoff, does not deny this—indeed, Italy confirms it."

The Russian statesman urged the league take action.

He criticized Italy for the methods she had employed at Geneva, especially her distribution of literature here.

Litvinoff insisted military operations should be restricted to the defense of one's country when attacked.

Session Adjourns

Dr. Ruiz Guinazu, of Argentina, president of the council, declared the session adjourned at 2:23 p. m.

In the meantime, word went out that the executive committee of the International Federation of Trades unions, meeting here tomorrow, would discuss how organized labor can paralyze Premier Mussolini's Ethiopian enterprise if the league fails to preserve the peace.

The federation represents most of the organized labor unions in Europe as well as many others overseas.

Its executive committee is expected to discuss the possibilities of workers' boycotting the handling of all goods shipped to and from Italy in case of war.

MORE ABOUT FARM BUREAU

ficial account of this meeting was given out, but a newspaper other than The Journal published an inaccurate story the following day. This publication caused embarrassment which could have been avoided if reporters had been present to secure first hand information.

The Journal representative pointed out that he believes presence of reporters at board meetings thus would be for the mutual benefit of the farm bureau and the public.

In his brief reply Mr. Crill simply said that the board had already taken its position on the matter and did not feel ready to change it.

Previous to this discussion Mr. Flaherty had explained that the board also feels that its deliberations are more or less in the nature of those carried on by directors of a private business and that for this reason it is felt that board meetings should not be open to the public. Mr. Flaherty asked the board to allow the reporter to come in and explain his newspaper's attitude, but the board replied by voting to reaffirm its policy. The reporter then went in without invitation and was alowed to express his views.

In his remarks to the board, Mr. Smith related briefly the history of the water program, according to Mr. Flaherty, and said that it has now been approved by army engineers at Washington. The project is now before the allotment board at the capital.

CONSUL GENERAL SUICIDE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (AP)—The Dollar Steamship company informed the state department late yesterday that George C. Hanson, 52, consul general at Salonika, Greece, had died on board the Steamship President Polk September 2 from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

MORE ABOUT DIXIE

tain Sundstrom wirelessed offices of the Morgan line in New York. "First boat takes 20 passengers."

Subsequent messages from the Dixie came swiftly.

"Second launch left ship with 18 passengers."

"Third launch, 18 passengers."

"Fourth launch, 18 passengers."

Thus, the story of the transfer was told in terse radio messages.

Conditions Ideal

Conditions were ideal for the rescue, according to the skipper's wirelesses. The sea was placid; the sky overcast, however.

When the transferring was resumed this morning, 220 persons—143 passengers and 77 members of the crew—were on the Dixie.

Captain Sundstrom's message that the skipper and a skeleton crew remains on the Dixie was necessary, according to the admiralty law, to enable the Morgan line to retain possession of the vessel.

Meanwhile, the narrative of the marine drama was unfolded by some of the Dixie's early removed passengers.

Ex-Santa Anan Tells

The Rev. F. A. Wekenman, San Diego, Calif., former Santa Ana, Calif., pastor, said "Gentiles, Jews and Catholics all prayed alike for the officers and crew after the Dixie grounded."

"We knew," he said, "that if there was any chance of being saved they were the men who were going to accomplish the difficult task.

"The morale of the crew and officers gave all of the passengers confidence."

"There was no hysteria," said Miss Florence E. Steiler, San Francisco. "We all sang. The death which seemed to face us was discussed with unprecedented freedom.

"Fear seemed to be unknown, as we were all of the opinion we would finally be carried down."

Miss Steiler was one of the passengers taken from the Dixie by the United Fruit liner Atenas yesterday.

Death Close By

Since the Dixie, her propeller and rudder torn away in a raging hurricane last Monday night, was tossed on French reef, about 60 miles south of here, she was both a haven and possible death trap for those aboard her.

To them, death seemed just over the rail, in the form of pounding, grasping waves which threatened to break the Dixie to pieces.

Yet, fully cognizant of what their fate might be, the passengers discussed it calmly, valiantly suppressing any demonstration of terror.

"There was no hysteria," said Miss Winifred Indge, Montreal. "If any of the passengers were frightened," she added, "they stifled public show of it."

The crew of the Dixie was highly praised.

"If we could only have felt as calm as the Dixie crew acted, everything would have been fine," said Mrs. J. G. Fisher, New Orleans.

"The terrible experiences of the night at sea have been now obliterated by the wonderful heroism of the crew," Mrs. Lyda L. Sturr, Newark, N. J., said. "Of course, we were paralyzed with fear when the lights failed and we were ordered to don lifebelts."

The graphic story of the first night of repressed terror on the imprisoned Dixie was told by Edward B. Brommell, of New York City.

"The hull of the vessel was pounded up and down by the waves and we were forced to take refuge in the salon," he said. "After the vessel had been driven on a reef by a wind said to be 120 miles an hour at the stern, the crew did everything for our comfort.

"Short circuiting caused the lights to burn out at one time. It caused a small blaze, quickly extinguished by the crew. Several suffered bruises."

Train Washout Helps

A train washout contributed to the grounding of the Dixie, said Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ratner, Sunnyside, Long Island.

A train bringing Dixie passengers from western cities to New Orleans, Mr. Ratner explained, was delayed 11 hours awaiting repairs to a washed out track. As a result the Dixie left New Orleans seven hours behind schedule.

Efforts to aid another passenger brought a fractured right hip to Mrs. C. H. Colgin, Brownsville, Tex.

"I had started to walk across B deck to aid an old lady who appeared to be in distress when the craft struck," said Mrs. Colgin.

"I was thrown across the deck. My right foot struck a door and before I could move it, a heavy chair struck it from the other side."

PAIR CONVICTED IN ROBBERY TRIAL

Jointly accused of attempted robbery, Jesus Ruiz was found guilty of the charge and Juan Baez was convicted of simple assault in a verdict returned last night by a jury in department 3, superior court. They were accused of attempting to rob Delphino Cardova.

Baez, through his attorney, N. D. Meyer, served notice of a motion for a new trial, and Ruiz applied for probation. Hearing on the probation plea was set for September 13 before Judge H. G. Scovel.

BOYS, 5, START OUT FOR N.Y.

Then Came Darkness, Hunger

Two 5-year-old boys afflicted with wanderlust were returned to their homes last night after police had found them on Bishop street between Kilson drive and Hickory streets. One of the lads, eGorge Walter Boyd, is the son of Motor Patrolman George Boyd, 812 Halladay street, and the other young adventurer is Noah Todd Palm, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Palm, 810 Halladay street.

Officer Boyd reported to the police station at 7 p. m. yesterday that the boys had disappeared. Officers Hunter Leach and W. B. Moreland, after touring through the neighborhood surrounding the residences of the two lads, finally found them.

"Where are you going, boys?" Officer Leach asked them.

"We're going to New York," one of the boys answered.

"But we're hungry, and it's getting awful dark," the other said.

"How would you like to go to jail?" Officer Leach inquired.

"We don't want to go to jail. We want to go home," chorused the two travellers.

After convincing the boys that New York was a big bad city, and no place for two country boys, the officers returned the lads to their parents.

IRVINE PARK IS SETTING FOR INFORMAL PARTY

A group of friends spent last evening at Irvine park, where they had a steak bake and later visited and stolled through the park.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Alford and twin sons, Jackie and Billy, and daughter, Mary; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. MacMillen and young daughter, Catherine Jeanette "Kitty Jean," Mrs. Edith MacMillen, Mrs. Nettie Crosson, Lloyd MacMillen and Miss Eleanor Moore.

CLAIMS RECORD TENANT

VIENNA. (AP) — Frau Johanna Jirgens, 75, claims the title of "world's most faithful tenant." When she was three her parents moved into the flat which she still occupies. The rent has been paid on the dot for 75 years and the grateful landlord organized a diamond jubilee for her.

METHODIST CHURCH PICNIC SATURDAY

The First Methodist church will hold its annual all-day picnic at Irvine park next Saturday.

Contests, horseshoe games, ball games and other amusements will be provided. A large crowd is being anticipated.

Dinner will be served promptly at 12:30 o'clock. Automobiles will leave the church between 9 and 11 a. m., furnishing transportation for those needing assistance. Members of the church and Sunday school are invited to attend.

BUY RARE MANUSCRIPTS

MOSCOW. (AP)—The state library has purchased a number of foreign manuscripts and autographs including notes by Emmanuel Kant, German philosopher, dated May 11, 1786; a coded letter by Louis XIV of France and a letter from Charles IX of France to a Captain Fabre written in 1571.

BORDER RED TAPE MARKS TRADE WAR ACROSS PYRENEES

PARIS, Sept. 6. (AP)—France and Spain, trade enemies since their negotiations for commercial treaties broke down, are taking it out on the border traffic.

Spanish representatives to trade parleys left Paris in a huff at the beginning of the summer. Now competition flourishes on both sides of the Pyrenees to determine which corps of customs guards can unearth the largest quantity of red tape.

Hundreds of families buy provisions in the nearest town, which happens to be in the other country. From the bay of Biscay to the Mediterranean many workers have jobs in one country and homes a few miles away in the other.

French customs authorities have decided that not more than ten pounds of grain and vegetables, a dozen oranges and the "necessary amount" of bread may be taken across the border for each household.

Spanish merchants, angered by such restrictions, have persuaded the Madrid authorities to bar all victuals coming from the French side.

JIM TELLS F.D.R. ALL IS 'OKAY'

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 5. (AP) President Roosevelt went about his vacation visit at home today, reassured by Postmaster General Farley that "things are all right over the country, economically and politically."

The president is seeking to put aside political discussion at the time but "Jim" Farley, the chairman of the democratic national committee, conceded with a grin last night after talking at the summer White House that he had reported the "okey" upon his return across the country from a vacation trip to Hawaii.

Men of the Guaicuri Indian tribe of Lower California used to cut and stretch their ears with pieces of bone until they hung down nearly to the shoulder.

A PROJECT AS BIG AS THE PANAMA CANAL
RIGHT IN YOUR OWN BACK YARD

THERE IS no Panama Canal in Southern California but there is an equally great—if not as well known—achievement rivalling it in bigness of conception, cost of execution and contribution to industrial development.

In order to supply Central and Southern California with low-cost electrical power, the citizens who compose the Edison Company completed several almost unbelievable engineering feats. An army of thousands of men marched into the mountains and harnessed the waters of the High Sierras. At times as many as 8,000 men were employed. In one instance they worked years, blasting a tunnel through more than 13 miles of virgin granite.

Instead of locks, they built huge dams; and erected 5 hydro-electric power plants—to serve the millions living in this territory. The result of the combined effort of thousands of California workers and investors is economical power—flowing constantly, day and night—to light a single lamp or turn the wheels of the largest factory.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS PLAN FUTURE EVENTS

Forthcoming events were scheduled last night at the dinner meeting of Sunday school workers of the First Presbyterian church in the social hall of the church.

Promotion day was set for Sunday, September 22, at 9:30 a. m. Moving day, when students transfer from classes, will be held September 29, and will open rally week, which will extend until October 6. Church workers are to visit homes of all the Sunday school members during the week, which will culminate in a rally day for all departments, October 6.

Instructional advice was given by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland and Harry Lewis, superintendent of the Sunday school, addressed the group.

The dinner was a complimentary gesture from the church to the Sunday school teachers and officers. The Northeast section of the Ladies' Aid, under Miss Mary Craig and Mrs. Clyde Backs, served.

TELLS CONDITIONS AMONG MEXICANS

Sketching political and social conditions of the Mexicans, Miss Betty Gould spoke at the meeting of the missionary society of the First Christian church yesterday in the educational building of the church.

The speaker had attended the University of Mexico City this summer and taken numerous trips into the native sections of the land. She spoke of their cordial hospitality. Baskets, drawn work, pictures and pottery which had been made there were put on display.

Mrs. M. Haskell was in charge of the program. Devotionals were led by Mrs. George Gould, and Mrs. James O'Brien president, conducted opening exercises.

NEW JUNIOR HIGH STUDENTS CALLED

All seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils who have moved in the Julia Lathrop Junior High school district since the closing of school in June are requested to report to room 11, Lathrop, on Friday, Sept. 13, at 9 a. m. Programs for the new semester's work will be arranged at this time, according to Principal H. G. Nelson.

EXTINGUISH CAR BLAZE

Firemen yesterday answered a call to extinguish a blaze in a parked car on North Broadway between Church and Sixth streets, believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the wiring. The machine, a roadster belonging to D. T. Mackey of Anaheim, was only slightly damaged, it was reported.

POLICE REPORTS

Two ropes stolen from Musselman service station, Fourth and French streets.

G. P. Baldwin, Perris, Calif., reported someone hit him over the head with a blackjack.

Reid Motor company reported that a car, valued at $100, had been stolen September 3 at 5:30 p. m. The car was returned to the company at 1 p. m. yesterday.

Bicycle belonging to Dick Key, 908 West Walnut street, stolen August 22, was recovered by San Diego police yesterday. The bicycle was found in a San Diego pawnshop.

F. O. Linger, 925 French street, reported receiving a fictitious check for $15.

CALUMPIT MEMBERS TO ATTEND CITRUS BELT PICNIC

Calumpit camp and auxiliary members of the U. S. W. V. will assemble Sunday at Pt. Firmin in San Pedro to attend the Citrus Belt picnic. The drum corps bus will leave from 17th and Broadway streets at 9:30 a. m. Picnic lunches are to be served.

Plans were completed at last night's meetings in the K. of C. hall for managing a concession at the Pomona fair. A. H. Hall, commander, will be assisted by Mrs. Hall and William Brown. Proceeds of the booth will go toward organization funds.

The auxiliary sewing club will meet at the home of Miss Josephine Molica in Olive Sept. 11. Open house, beginning a series of card parties, will be held next Tuesday night at the K. of C. hall.

INSTRUCTION CLASS FOR DE MOLAY-JOB'S DAUGHTERS LISTED

Adding another feature to the Friday night dances of the De Molay-Job's Daughters, instruction classes are to be given from 7:30 to 8 o'clock every week, beginning Sept. 13.

Carnelle Swain from the Putnam dance studios has been obtained through cooperation with City Councilman Plumer Burns, to give the classes. No additional charge will be made above the regular admission fee to the dances, said George Wheeler, advisor for the De Molays.

All the modern steps, ballroom etiquette, social poise and other features will be included in the instruction.

The regular dances to Glen Evans' recordings will follow the classes.

HERE'S CHANCE FOR RESIDENTS TO GET AID IN HOMES

Opening of classes at the Santa Ana Junior college September 16 will bring with it scores of students interested in finding lodgings in the city.

More than 30 students found homes last year where they could work for room and board. Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women, issued an announcement today for Santa Anans who will be able to give room and board to students in exchange for assistance in their homes to contact her between 9 a. m. and 12 noon every day this week and next week.

GINAL DEFECTIVE

PLACENTIA SCHOOL BONDS ARE DEFEATED BY LARGE MAJORITY

VOTERS TURN DOWN WORK PROJECTS

$160,000 Issues Lose by 100 Votes; Board to Continue Program

PLACENTIA. — Voters of the Placentia school district decided against a proposed $400,000 building project for elementary and high schools here yesterday when they cast a negative vote on two bond issues, one for $110,000 for elementary schools and the other for $50,000 for Valencia high school.

The total vote was 401 favoring the bonds and 362 against, according to unofficial figures, making the bonds fail by about 100 votes.

In the Yorba precinct, home of Mrs. Hermine Lowe, school board member who is reported to have advised against passage of the bonds, both issues were completely blanked, with 97 "no" votes cast and none favoring the issue.

Unofficial figures on the balloting follow: Bradford street school, high school bonds, 319 yes, 65 no; elementary bonds, 317 yes, 68 no; La Jolla precinct, high school, 65 yes, 70 no; elementary, 85 yes, 62 no; Richfield precinct, high school, 17 yes, 130 no; elementary, 17 yes, 132 no. Yorba precinct, high school, 97 no; elementary, 97 no.

School board members will now probably ask for federal funds to match about $60,000 fire insurance money held by the district and a small amount budgeted for building. With this they will rehabilitate as many buildings of the district as possible, it was reported.

Plans for the district, if the bonds were carried, included rebuilding work or new structures for four elementary plans and new buildings for Valencia high school.

REQUEST FILED FOR NEW PIER

LAGUNA BEACH. — Applications for PWA aid in construction of a new pier and possibly a breakwater at Laguna Beach have been turned in to government authorities, it was reported by City Engineer A. J. Stead at a meeting of the city council last night.

Tentative plans submitted were based on a 20-foot wooden structure out to the rocks, with a concrete pier extending 400 feet further. The present pier extends 285 feet above the rocks. The plans also included a rock-bound breakwater to the reef, which would cost approximately $57,000. This would leave $33,000 for the pier and approach and $10,000 for incidental expenses, he pointed out.

Mr. Stead brought up the question of sounding out public opinion regarding the pier and breakwater projects and was instructed to draw up a statement regarding advantages of the double project and construction of the pier as a single unit.

'Give Us a Chance---'

Fred Perry, Britisher, world's ranking tennis amateur, went down New York harbor to meet Helen Vinson, golden-haired film actress, when she arrived on the Ile de France. When reporters asked if they were engaged, Miss Vinson laughed: "Give us a chance, will you?" They are shown above, aboard the ship.

Brick Dust

By BRICK GAINES

Ever think much about lifeguards?

Neither did I until Chief Frank Crocker of Newport Beach got started talking the other day. Then I couldn't help myself.

Faithfulness to duty, watchfulness and efficiency have aided Newport in producing a record year as far as drownings are concerned, Chief Crocker says. He's proud of his lifeguards, and I don't blame him.

Through a campaign of education of bathers, through giving warnings and watching with great care for tiring swimmers, the guards have produced an amazing record this year. The department's emergency truck, which goes out only in serious cases, when the inhalator is needed, has been called upon four times this year.

Only a short time ago, over 100 calls a year wasn't anything unusual, according to the chief's records. If that isn't efficiency, we'd like to see some.

Those husky swimmers have 33 human lives chalked up to their credit this year. That's how many people they pulled from the water. And that doesn't include 191 persons assisted before they were in need of rescue methods.

With all the thousands of people swimming in the ocean and bay, only two have drowned this year. Other years show many more. How come, we asked the chief.

"Although swimming may have been a bit more dangerous this year, due to the dredging, we have publicised the fact," he replied. "Therefore people have been more watchful. In addition, there has been a definite trend toward bathing in the bay this year. Other sections of beach have been opened on the bay front, and lots of people swim there."

Just as a comparison, the chief dug out his record books and gave the following facts: In 1931, the rescue car answered 66 calls; (that's against 4, this year); 252 rescues, against 33 this year; 81 assisted from the water—191 this year—see the record of watchfulness of the guards? Eleven inhalator cases in 1931; three deaths by drowning, four by heart failure. Only two this year, remember.

And in 1931 there were 11 lifeguards, three extra men and 16 on special duty. This year there were only five guards and two men on relief duty. I'm not wondering that residents of the beach are grateful to these men. They've earned the praise that Chief Crocker gives 'em.

Gene Smith was located at Corona Del Mar this year; Jack Johnson at Balboa; Albert Irwin at Montero street station; George Foster at the camp grounds; Dick Johnston at Newport; Johnnie Gillis and Marco Arnich were on relief.

Give 'em a hand, folks!

What got us started on lifesaving was due to the chief. When I came around the corner, there was a suspicious moisture in his eye. Investigating, I found that they were just sending the old emergency car, which had served the department faithfully since 1929, to work for the water department. New one for the guards.

The chief slapped the old vehicle on the back as it pulled away, just like one would a horse who had served faithfully and well. 'Twas a kinda gulpy moment.

The Old Adobe cafe at San Juan Capistrano is becoming known as a stomping ground for movie celebrities.

Take Labor Day, for instance. Sounds like an all-star cast. Jean Harlow, Claudet Colbert, Nils Asther.

Lots of others recently, too, we're told.

The Old Adobe has a history. It was built in the 1840's, according to Alfonso Yorba, by Don Manuel Garcia, on the site of some earlier mission houses. It was the first and only two-story adobe, or "casa de topanco" built in San Juan. It served as a store and as a hotel for travelers on El Camino Real, he says.

In 1857, the store was looted by Juan Flores and his band, the historian reports. The marauders killed Jorge Pflugardt, storekeeper, after looting the building.

The adobe was finally turned into a hotel by Don Domingo Oyharzabel, who named it the "French Hotel." Don Domingo was a wealthy Basque sheep-owner and his relatives still own the old building.

An interesting fact connected with the structure is pointed out by Mr. Yorba, who says that the famous pepper tree at the San Juan Capistrano mission was started from a shoot from the tree at the rear of the Old Adobe. That was in 1871.

I think I could pound a mean tortilla myself, in such surroundings.

BEACH SCHOOL WORK RUSHED

NEWPORT BEACH.—Work is being rushed to complete Newport's new $110,000 elementary school on Central avenue so that school may be started some time this month, it has been announced by H. O. Ensign, district superintendent of schools.

No opening date has been set for the local school, with authorities waiting for completion of the building before starting classes, according to the superintendent.

THREE'N TWENTY CLUB HAS MEETING

GARDEN GROVE. — Three'n Twenty club members enjoyed their first meeting of the club year as guests of Mrs. Ray Johnson of North Euclid avenue.

Mrs. Wilbur Harper, in charge of the program, presented Mrs. Claude Wasson who gave a list of books for both adult and children's reading. Mrs. Charles Lake sang, with Mrs. Irvine German as her accompanist. Gerald Wasson, Kenneth Hall and Leland Harper played a piano trio number. Attending were Mesdames E. W. Edwards of Los Angeles, Ralph Chaffee, Claude Crosby, Walter Dungan, C. P. Bryan, Irvine German, C. G. Hall, A. D. Smiley, Wilbur Harper, F. A. Monroe, Charles Lake, W. W. Perkins, jr., R. R. Rosselot, L. W. Schauer, Emmett Smith, Claude Wasson and Ray Johnson.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pearson at their mountain home at Big Bear were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Doig and daughter, Molly, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Schauer and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Monroe and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Merchant, and daughter, Frances and her houseguest, Miss Jane Goodwin of San Diego.

Dr. and Mrs. D. R. E. Waters returned recently from a week's stay at Sequoia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stanley and son, Emerson, have returned from a five day's stay in San Deigo.

H. Clay Kellogg, with Fred Clayton of Orange, and Paul Lacey of Whittier has returned from a fishing trip to Coronado.

Mrs. B. S. Brennan and daughter, Jane, left yesterday for Turlock where they will visit a sister, Mrs. A. Peterson.

FIRE ZONING LAW READ

H. B. Council Plans Three Districts; May Form Merchant Patrol

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — The city council met at an adjourned session last night and heard the second reading of a fire zoning ordinance which covers the entire city. The city councilmen divided the city into three fire districts and a map showing these separate fire zones will be hung in the city clerk's office.

An application made by J. H. Lieb of Long Beach to form a merchants' patrol for protection of the oil industry here was referred to the city attorney for a ruling as to responsibility of the city in such a matter.

Under the proposed plan, Mr. Lieb would patrol the oil fields at night. He would derive his fee from oil firms and would not be placed on the city payroll. Chief of Police George Gelzer recommended the move.

City Treasurer Bayard Butcher's monthly report showed a balance of $139,083.53 on hand. Judge C. P. Patton's report showed a total of $281 taken in for fines. He heard 87 cases, suspended three, dismissed 46 and removed four to juvenile court. Chief Gelzer's report showed 113 arrests and 247 calls answered during the month.

CROSSING WORK PROGRESSING

COSTA MESA.—Work is progressing rapidly on tearing up Southern Pacific railway tracks between here and the sugar factory near Santa Ana, seen as the first step in construction of an overhead crossing at the Arches intersection on the state highway.

The proposed crossing will be constructed through use of federal money, appropriated sometime ago for the purpose. When finished, one of the most dangerous intersections in the county will be eliminated. Plans are not quite completed for the crossing project, it has been reported here.

ANAHEIM HIGH OPENING SET

ANAHEIM.—High school classes will open here next Tuesday, with student registration starting yesterday, Principal J. A. Clayes has announced. Seniors were to register from 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday, sophomores and juniors were scheduled to register today from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. and freshmen will register tomorrow from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Although slight changes in bus schedules have been announced, all students wishing transportation will be cared for, the principal said.

ANAHEIM TO GET $9000 UTILITY TAXES, ANNOUNCED

ANAHEIM.—This city will receive about $9,000 from taxation of public utilities next year, according to City Clerk Charles Griffith, who recently received a report that assessed valuation of utility property in Anaheim had been set at $947,950 by the state board of equalization.

Last year, with utilities taxed by the state, the city received about $250, he said.

JAMES B. UTT MAKES TALK

Assemblyman Speaks to Orange Lions Club; Tells of Laws

ORANGE.—Assemblyman James B. Utt was speaker at the Orange Lions club meeting yesterday, telling of happenings at the last session of the legislature, and some things which may happen. Cal D. Lester was program chairman of the day.

Mr. Utt said that the state government has assumed more and more of local burdens, and in the future may be saddled with a greater load. Although large amounts are raised by state taxation large amounts are also returned to local communities, as in the case of gas tax money and money for the support of schools, he said. The governor will call a session of the legislature the first of the year in order to raise money for a state deficit, he added. He also said that he was against the state income tax, but finally agreed to the compromise bill which called for 25 per cent of that paid the federal government.

He also opposed elimination of foodstuffs from the sales tax. An unployment insurance act was passed, which will do little for three years, and may have to be revised to fit in with the government acts, he declared. Abuses in the chain store system are evident but he believed this bill will not obtain the objective of correcting these abuses, as big stores will squeeze the tax out of employes, landlords or consumers, he added. He predicted that this tax would be repealed and relief sought under other legislation.

In regard to the Huntington Beach oil situation, the speaker said that the question will never be settled until the last drop of oil has been taken from the state lands. Also that it is merely a fight between large companies for possession of the field. Mr. Utt said the pool is overrated, comprising about 100 acres, and at best could only produce one-half million barrels per acre.

TEACHERS AT GROVE TOLD

GARDEN GROVE. — Elementary schools will open in Garden Grove next Tuesday, it has been announced. District Superintendent S. R. Fitz expects a raise in attendance at the schools this year, he said recently. Enrollment last year was about 850 pupils.

Included in repair work done at schools during the summer is remodeling and repainting of bungalows at the Lincoln schools, he said. Faculty assignments announced for the year are: Washington school, H. W. Emley, principal; Susan Walker, Pearl Crutchfield, Pauline Merchant, Mary Hoeman, Faire Virgin, Floy McCowan, Mary Margaret Reed, Helen Knox, Walter Lehnhardt, Miriam Rich, Opal Knox and W. G. Axworthy.

For the Lincoln school, Ethel Evans, principal; Lucile Allen, Matilda Hill, Howard Moore, Marcia Carmichael, Marcella Turner, Nelle Harbottle, Cora Lee Ritter, Lois Durward, Helen Aupperle, Gladys Summerfield and Beth Toland.

At Hoover school, Mary Thomason, principal; Allen Goddard, Hazel Fulton, Mary Moody, Floyce Haas, Eunice Bragg and Marjorie Ferrin.

And for the Bolsa school, Lillie Cosner, principal; Gladys Bratsch and Mignon Waters. Anna Ekdahl is school nurse.

DOES HE LIKE ORANGES?

New Pastor Receives Plenty

GARDEN GROVE. — Members of Garden Grove citrus associations believe in advertising.

They grasp every opportunity of advancing merits of their brands of fruit, even when it comes to welcoming new pastors to the community.

The Rev. Charles Moore of Greenleaf, Idaho, new pastor of the Alamitos Friends church, Mrs. Moore and four sons arrived here recently. They were welcomed with a dinner by the brotherhood of the church, held in Anaheim park.

J. W. Crill asked to welcome the new pastor and his family to the county, and presented them a basket of fruit from his association, the Mutual Orange distributors plant. Not to be outdone, W. O. Broady offered a welcome gift of "Sunkist" fruit. Further competition was halted by the program, which was arranged by Warren Mendenhall.

The pastor and family were introduced by the Rev. Paul Younger, former pastor at the church. The Rev. C. N. Jones and A. C. Stanley gave welcoming talks. John Guptill and J. J. Beavers were in charge of the dinner, served to 125 persons. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. W. O. Broady and Mr. Crill.

Consider Orange Applications For Street Work

ORANGE.—State highway officials are considering the application for paving of Glassell street and part of Chapman avenue in their secondary highway paving program, it was reported by Acting City Engineer W. K. Hillyard last night at a meeting of the city council. The Glassell street project has been favorably received by the officials, but doubt was expressed whether Chapman avenue would be included.

Both streets would be widened if the program is carried through. If the state should refuse the application it is possible that the work may be done with gas tax money received from the state, the engineer said.

COMMITTEE FOR FAIR NAMED

POMONA.—Announcement has been made at offices of the combined Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange county fair in Pomona of appointment of an inter-county committee to have charge of a general state-wide participation in the big agricultural and industrial event here September 13 to 29. The following well known civic leaders have been named on the committee:

D. W. Tubbs, Orange county; L. E. Sheets, Pomona; J. M. Paige, Pomona; C. P. Bayer, Los Angeles; H. J. Ryan, Los Angeles; R. R. McLean, SanDiego; B. A. Harnigan, Imperial; A. E. Bottel, Riverside; John P. Coy, San Bernardino; A. H. Call, Ventura; Eugene S. Kellogg Santa Barbara; Lewis A. Burtch, Kern; Thos. Chalmers, San Luis Obispo; Oscar L. Hemphill, Tulare; Fred P. Roullard, Fresno; L. O. Haupt, Kings; Frank L. Kellogg, Santa Cruz; H. A. Hunt, Monterey.

BEACH GROUP SLATES MEET

NEWPORT BEACH.—Members of the board of directors of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce will hold a regular meeting next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the city hall, it has been announced by Mark J. Johnson, president. A large attendance was urged, as matters of importance will be discussed.

CAPISTRANO BOARD INTERVIEWS JOB APPLICANTS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO. — Although two applicants were interviewed, no one was hired as secretary-librarian for Capistrano Union High school at a meeting of the board of trustees Tuesday evening.

Board members pointed out that in order to work more than two hours in the school library, anyone employed must be accredited by the state, and for that reason local applications for the position were refused.

Contract was let to Knox and Stout of Santa Ana for re-roofing the central and shop buildings at the high school. Another meeting will probably be held next Tuesday, which will be opening day for the high school.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN FOR GIRL AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—Betty Ann Stuck was four years old Tuesday and in honor of the occasion her mother, Mrs. Archie L. Stuck, invited a group of her friends and their mothers to a party at their home. The honoree's aunt, Mrs. Wray Humphrey of Santa Ana, assisted Mrs. Stuck in serving a birthday luncheon.

Present were Mrs. Wilburn Curry and daughter, Marilyn Joyce of Fullerton, Mrs. Homer Humhrey, her daughter, Peggy, and baby son of Costa Mesa; Mrs. Wray Humphrey of Santa Ana, Mrs. Cartwright Smith and daughter, Patsy, and the honoree's brothers, Lee Ralph and John.

SCHOOL TO OPEN NEXT TUESDAY AT WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER. — Schools will open here next Tuesday, with the following teachers: Superintendent of schools, Orion Bebermeyer; principal of Westminster grammar school, and teacher of the eighth grade, Francis Dell; seventh grade, Irene Erdman; fifth grade, Nellie French; fourth grade, Hattie May Palmer; third grade, Iona Vail; second grade, Althea Ryckman; first grade, Clara Cook; music and kindergarten, Elsie Franzen.

Hoover school, Nevin Otis, principal; Ethel Faulk, Helen McCoy, and Marguerite Marzano, grade teachers.

FIESTA SLATED AT BALBOA

BALBOA BEACH. — Merchants of Balboa are planning to care for large crowds next Saturday, Sunday and Monday when they offer a Spanish fiesta and carnival in the business district here.

Streets are being decorated in Spanish colors and a large number of entertainers will be in town during the three days. Each day from 2 to 4 and 7 to 10 p. m strolling players will furnish a program for visitors. Included in entertainers is Senor Carlitos Salazer, the original "Peanut Vendor" and Senorita Rafaela, famous Mexican prima donna, as well as "Pinkie," rumba dancer; Dora Gomez, Spanish dancer, and a dancing troupe. Senor Salazer's orchestra will furnish music.

SCHOOL PLANS CEREMONY

WESTMINSTER. — Dedication of the new Westminster Grammar school will take place tomorrow evening. Prior to the dedication ceremony, a community pot-luck dinner will be served in the school yard, with each family providing a covered dish, their own table service and bread and butter. The P.-T. A. will furnish coffee.

Immediately after dinner, the building will be open for inspection. At 7:30 o'clock the dedication ceremony will take place in the school auditorium, with the program presented under direction of the P.-T. A.

Invocation, will be by the Rev. Clifford N. Jones. Opening by the P.-T. A. president, Mrs. Marie Nelson; talk by Fred Vurley, superintendent of construction; piano solo, Mrs. Margaret Miller; presentation of keys by J. E. Allison, architect; response, E. C. Hylton, president of the board of trustees; reading, Mrs. Sylvia Otis; address by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools and benediction, the Rev. J. A. Wooten.

BOOSTER DANCE IS TONIGHT

BUENA PARK.—Residents of the Buena Park district are planning to attend the booster benefit dance, scheduled for this evening in the old Gilmore hall, under auspices of the junior chamber of commerce.

The dance is a benefit for the Booster celebration scheduled for September 27-28 in Buena Park. George Keith and his orchestra will furnish music.

A large advance ticket sale has been announced by the junior chamber committee in charge of arrangements.

CARD PARTY GIVEN AT GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—A Mexican theme was used in appointments for a dinner party with which Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Reafsnyder entertained friends recently. Bridge was played and prizes for high score were won by Mrs. L. L. Doig and Charles Lake while consolation awards went to Mrs. Virgil Sparks and Lester Frink.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Waight, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Doig, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Kraushaar, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sparks, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, Kenneth Dungan and Lester Frink.

CORONA PLUNGE PAYS

CORONA, Sept. 5. (AP)—Reports to the city council disclose that for the first time in its history the municipal plunge profits have exceeded $1000. In some previous seasons the plunge was operated at a loss.

SEWER WORK AT ORANGE PROPOSED

City Engineer Presents Two Projects; Cost Is About $4500

ORANGE.—Possibility that new sewer lines, which would cost the city about $4500, will be included in a WPA project for Orange, was indicated at a city council meeting here last night when W. K. Hillyard, acting city engineer, told members of projects contemplated.

Projects may start a week from next Monday, he said.

In making a study of the sewer situation here, conclusions were reached by Mr. Hillyard that the load on the West Chapman street sewer should be considerably lightened. This may be done by cutting the district south of Palmyra avenue into the La Veta street line, he said, as Chapman avenue line at present is carrying 95 per cent of the sewage. A section from Flower street to the large outfall sewer at Santa Ana boulevard at present is only 10-inch pipe.

He proposed laying a line on La Veta street to Main, west across Flower to Santa Ana boulevard, which would include 3450 feet of 18-inch pipe. Cost to the city, which is 20 per cent of the total cost, would be $2440.

A new line was proposed on East Palmyra avenue to Tustin street, including 1950 feet, with a line on Tustin street 240 feet long. This line would be 10-inch pipe and would cost the city between $1600 and $2000, he said.

Councilmen C. J. Hessel Cal D. Lester, J. E. Riley and City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond will attend the convention of the State League of Municipalities at San Francisco September 23 to 26, the city to pay their traveling expenses. Al Tomblin, fire chief, will leave Saturday for convention of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' association at Sacramento, it was announced.

A letter was read by City Attorney Richmond from the California Edison company asking a 50 per cent reduction in assessed valuation of property located in the city. As the state board of equalization has already set the valuation, the council refused the request, stating that it has no jurisdiction in the matter.

Fines assessed by Judge A. W. Swayze during August totaled $588, it was announced, with 24 arrests and 26 citations.

POLICE GROUP HEARS TALK

SEAL BEACH.—As he traced the history of guns from their beginning to those used in the present day, Dr. Roy Horton, optometrist of Santa Ana, displayed many weapons from his rare collection at the dinner-meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association held in the city hall at Seal Beach last night. About 75 persons were present.

Police Chief Lee Howard was host and also program chairman. Sheriff Logan Jackson presided at the meeting. Women of the Methodist church served dinner.

SWIMMING 33 MILES

AVALON, SANTA CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Sept. 5. (AP)—Battling through the night against an unfavorable current, Paul Chotteau, French distance swimmer, early today was 11½ miles out at sea in his attempt to swim from Catalina Island to Santa Monica, 33 miles across. The swimmer was chilled by the water but said he was untired. He lost something like 9½ miles distance during the night by the current, but hoped to gain it back when the tide turned.

ARMOUR PICKS LITTLE

CHICAGO, Sept. 5. (AP)—After troubleshooting Lawson Little's swing, Tommy Armour is more convinced than ever that the "Presidio pounder" will score his second successive "grand slam" of amateur golf at Cleveland next week. "Little's playing even more magnificently than before," said Tommy, who has been giving the California colossus last minute tips during the past two seasons prior to his amateur conquests in England and the United States. "I don't see how they can stop him at Cleveland.

FOOTBALL PROS TO PLAY HERE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Professional football in Southern California will be sponsored by the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion, Harry Meyers of that organization announced late yesterday.

Under present plans a four-club league will operate with games to be played in Long Beach, Santa Ana, San Bernardino, Bakersfield and Los Angeles. The teams will be:

California Shamrocks, coached by Laurie Vejar; Westwood Cubs, coached by Dick Mulhaupt; Los Angeles Maroons, coached by Harry Edelson, and the Hollywood Braves, coached by Ted Shipke.

EX-SANTA ANA BOY FACES CHAMPION

Paddy One-Time Idol of Local Fans; Arroya Returns to Arena

King of the National Amateur Athletic union flyweights, Johnny Aguirre of Huntington Park appears here in the top spot with San Bernardino's Paddy Quillon, former Santa Anan, on the weekly boxing menu of the Orange County Athletic club tonight. The program begins at 8:30.

Regular customers at Sam Sampson's eight-bout shows on highway 101 have not forgotten Aguirre. The aggressive 115-pounder made an instant hit by extending Lupe Cardoza, Southern California bantamweight champ, in a recent match. In Quillon he faces a respected opponent who numbers Chief Lopez, Carman Tullio and George Couch among his 1934-35 victims.

Colored Boy Returns

San Bernardino's popular colored puncher, Ernie Carter, battles Fritz Jacobs of Huntington Park in what should be an attractive semi-windup at 133 pounds.

Fully recovered from an injured hand, Westminster's Art Arroya goes into the special event with one of San Bernardino's best mixers, Larry Ledford.

The program consists entirely of experienced talent from Huntington Park and San Bernardino against some of the best boys in Orange county.

Garcia Faces Laviro

The invaders will fight among themselves in the fifth bout, pairing "Fighting Al" Garcia of Huntington Park with Tony Laviro of San Bernardino, as well as in the semi-windup between Carter and Jacobs.

Other matches of the evening:

Tino Munzo, Placentia, vs. Willie Walker, San Bernardino, 155 pounds.

Paul Saucedo, Anaheim, vs. Bill White, San Bernardino, 135 pounds.

Babe Rosales, Placentia, vs. Young Estrada, San Bernardino, 122 pounds.

Boots Hawkins, Santa Ana, vs. Paul Castonas, San Bernardino, 145 pounds.

The Sportsman

By LARRY BAUER

While deep-sea anglers have been enjoying a fine season for barracuda, halibut, sculpin, yellowtail and sea bass, light tackle anglers are awaiting the annual run of marlin, broadbill swordfish and tuna off the Southern California coast.

The run of the bigger fish ordinarily starts late in July and extends through September, with the number of catches varying with the water temperature and the resultant presence of smaller fish on which the big ones feed.

Records compiled by the Santa Catalina Island Tuna club, at which the anglers will be aiming, are all held by J. W. Jump of Pasadena. He has a broadbill record catch of 365 pounds, a marlin at 343 pounds and tuna at 145½ pounds.

This fishing is most exacting, since the angler, in order to compete for light tackle marks, must use a rod not less than 72 inches long. The butt must be no more than 14 inches and the weight of the tip is limited to 6 ounces. Ninestrand linen line is the limit, with a dry breaking weight of 26 pounds.

The broadbill and marlin are fished alike. The usual method is to lace the hook into a sizable mackerel which is trolled several hundred yards behind a slow-moving yacht. These giants of the deep attack the bait in similar fashion. First they slap the bait broadside with their sword to stun it. After that they pick it up and run with it for several hundred feet, drop it, look it over and then strike with the idea of swallowing it.

This is the opportune time for the angler to give the line a sharp tug to set the hook. From that time on the fisherman has his task cut out for him, as he plays his catch along, always keeping the slack taken up so that a sudden jerk does not disengage the hook or cause the light line to part.

Brea Surprises Olive in Third Game, 5 to 1

CHAMPS WILL PLAY AGAIN MONDAY

Bunched Hits Off Lyle Morse Earn Decision for Kiger's Lions

Brea's frisky Lions, faced with elimination, staged a remarkable comback in the County Night Ball league's championship play-offs with a sparkling 5-1 decision over Olive's favorites in the third of the five-game series between the split-season champions at Brea last night.

The fourth game, slated for Anaheim tomorrow night, has been postponed until Monday in order to avoid conflict with the Santa Ana-Huntington Beach National league play-off tilt which the County leaguers plan to attend at the Municipal bowl.

Slipping as far as possible without disastrous consequences, Brea received 5-1 and 7-5 set-backs in the first two games, and most everyone—except Virgil Kiger's Lions, apparently—thought Olive would win the title in three starts.

Brea Gains 5-0 Lead

Lyle Morse, Olive's great gunner who mowed down 24 and 12 on strikeouts in his two victories, was the victim of bunched hits in the third and fourth, Brea gaining a 5-0 lead in these periods. He fanned 12.

Rudy Montgomery of Brea, doling out only seven hits, had a shut-out until the sixth, when Clyde Holmes singled, Leo Morse doubled and Charley Bever singled to manufacture Olive's only run.

Brea sewed up the contest in the third on singles by Diharce, Stives, Roberts and Lashley's two-bagger. The Lions roared again in the fourth, Diharce's single scoring Griffith and Montgomery, who had walked.

Four Hitting Stars

Bever of Olive and Diharce, Lashley and Roberts of Brea were the hitting stars.

21 'B' GRIDMEN REPORT HERE

Twenty-one aspirants, an encouraging turnout considering school is several days away, have greeted Coach Clyde Cook of Santa Ana's Saints at Poly field, and the task of molding a representative Class B football team has begun in earnest. Morning drills will be conducted this week.

New classifications will be put into effect by the California Interscholastic federation this year. It is not known definitely how many of Cook's present crop of boys will be affected. The athletes will be rated on three points—age, weight and height—and some of those now planning to play with the Bees may possess too many exponents.

About the only hold-overs Cook will have reported yesterday. They are Ralph Fuller, Gene Miller and Bob Wilde. Other candidates of limited experience are Ernest Barrett, Cliff Buck, Robert Cooper, Clyde Cave, Horace Codling, Jim Dudley, Worth Elliott, Elson Daebe, Wayne Harris, Harvey Hemphill, Carl League, Pete Lovero, Hugh Neighbour, Ralph Pagenkopp, Milton Smith, Joe Standifer, Dearin Waggener and Marvin Webb.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By the Associated Press)

AUGIE GALAN, Cubs—Drove in six runs in victory over Phillies, hitting two home runs, one with bases full.

JIM COLLINS, Cardinals, and WALLY BERGER, Braves—Collins rapped double and two singles; Berger hit thirtieth homer, taking National league lead.

DICK BARTELL, Giants—Led attack on reds with three hits.

Smilin' Thru'

The wise ones say Big Bill Cole, above, has lost a big hunk of his fine 1934 grid team. With his customary robust cheerfulness, however, Cole started his Tustin troupe working out yesterday and keeps his foxy eyes on the County league title which he lost by a nose to Anaheim last year.

CUBS, GIANTS, CARDS HOLD MARGINS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the season's best bits of managerial masterminding apparently was Charley Grimm's conversion of Augie Galan from an irregular infielder with the Cubs to a regular toiler in the outer pastures.

That shift came when the Cubs were in the doldrums. Shortly afterward they began to move toward the top with Galan in a leading role in the drive that made them contenders for the flag. It didn't take Augie long to develop into a good outfielder and he has been hitting at a .300 or better clip.

Gets Two Homers

Galan proved his worth yesterday when the Cubs rolled over the Phillies 8 to 2 to keep their place of two and one-half games behind the league-leading Cardinals and a half game back of the second-place Giants. Galan drove in six runs, drawing a walk with the bases loaded in the fourth and clouting two home runs. His second homer came with the bases loaded in the eighth and broke up the ball game.

The Cards maintained their lead by staging a four-run rally in the eighth to beat the cellar-dwelling Braves 6 to 3.

Walker Given Win

Jesse "Pop" Haines, trying for his 200th major league victory, which went to Bill Walker.

The Giants, although somewhat shaky at times, outlasted the Reds to win 6 to 4, Carl Hubbell winning his twentieth victory.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Nine thousand mat fans last night saw Ernie Dusek, the Nebraska Wildcat, invoke a series of body slams to defeat Frank (Man Mountain) Dean, two out of three falls.

Frisky Lion Pays Visit To Loyola Univ. Dormitory

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP) "Huddle," husky mountain lion mascot of Loyola university here, used a campus dormitory for tackling practice, although opening of the football season is almost a month away.

A gift of the University of Arizona, the tawny beast pounced with telling effect on beds, desks, statuary and fixtures. It finally was cornered on the roof and captured.

TUSTIN GRID WORK LURES FIFTEEN

Big Bill Cole Predicts Another Pennant for Anaheim Colonists

Big Bill Cole, beginning his seventh year as Tustin's athletic skipper in the Orange County Prep league, paced his Tillers through their second workout on the Tustin field today, anticipating several newcomers to swell a roster of 15 prospects who greeted him yesterday.

None too optimistic about his own material, which is considered the weakest in recent years at Tustin, Cole believes Anaheim's Colonists, who nosed out the Tillers for the championship last fall, will be the team to beat again. He also expects Orange's Panthers to be up among the leaders.

Five Hold-overs

Hold-overs for the Tustin machine are Lewis Tadlock, fullback; Ed Bristow, end and halfback; and James Thompson, Hideo Mera and Harry Miles, 1934 reserve linemen.

Up from the Bees will be Gil Bristow, brother of Ed, who will try out for center; Cleo Stone, Leo Crawford, linemen; Paul Francis, Walt and Bill Nelson, backs. Among the other new recruits are Dick Linker, Merle Griset, Ed Cox and Charley Mueller, linemen.

Efforts are being made to transfer Tustin's home game at Downey Sept. 27 to the Tustin field, Cole said. The tussle will open a schedule including games at Garden Grove Oct. 4, at Orange Oct. 11, at Tustin with Laguna Oct. 17, at Valencia Oct. 25, at Tustin with Anaheim Nov. 1, at Tustin with San Juan Capistrano Nov. 8, and at Newport Harbor Nov. 15.

GARDEN GROVE OPENS PRACTICE MONDAY

Equipment for Garden Grove High school football candidates will be issued at the Garden Grove gym tomorrow and Saturday, and practice will be launched Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Coach John Ward announced today. The Peppers start with five veterans—Carl Lehnhart, hb; Ben Kolb, fb; Dick Littlejohn, g; Dick Mitchell, g, and Jack Devine, g.

CUBS PURCHASE GENE LILLARD

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Gene Lillard, Los Angeles third baseman who has clouted 47 home runs over Pacific Coast league ball parks this season, will go to the Chicago Cubs next spring.

Efforts on the part of Detroit, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and the two Boston clubs to get the youthful Angel ended yesterday when officials of the Los Angeles club announced he had been sold for $15,000 in a straight cash deal. Lillard is hitting at a .361 pace this season.

Bomo Koral Benched; Stars Outslug Oilers

Significant changes were being contemplated today in Santa Ana's nightball lineup for the Stars' third attempt to overthrow Huntington Beach's Oilers in their four-out-of-seven game play-off series which continues at the Municipal bowl tomorrow night.

Manager Tom Denney, it is understood, plans to bench—temporarily at least—Benjamin (Bomo) Koral, the club's spark-plug catcher who has been off form in 7-1 and 9-5 defeats from the Oilers. Alvin Reboin, the handy-andy man, is due to come in from centerfield to work behind the plate. Rod Ballard or George Preble will fill the outfield vacancy.

Their hitting obviously has not been as timely, but the Stars are leading the Oilers by 26 points, according to team averages compiled by The Journal. Santa Ana has annexed 22 hits in 72 attempts for a mark of .306. Huntington Beach possesses a percentage of .280, with 11 hits in 75 trials.

Defensively, the Oilers have been much the superior. Handling a combined total of 72 put-outs and assists, the 1934 champs have made only one bobble for a splendid .986 average. The Stars have figured in six errors in 65 put-outs and assists for a .908 percentage.

Shortstop Francis Conrad of Santa Ana and Second-baseman Henry Thiery of Huntington Beach share the lead in individual hitting with identical marks of .556. They are far ahead of their teammates. Six are tied for third at the respectable figure of .375.

ARMY LEADER SAYS GRID GAME GOING INTO OPEN

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Third of a Series)

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 5. (AP)—Football is coming out into the open this season as never before, says Lieut. Gar Davidson, commander-in-chief of the Army gridirons, and sad indeed will be the major league coach who hasn't his laterals and forward passes ready for the test.

"The way Alabama passed and ran Stanford into rout in the Rose Bowl game was the preview of the kind of attack you're going to see everywhere all fall," he says.

"I've got my men playing touch football as much as possible, passing the ball around all the time, getting used to handling it and plucking it out of the air from all angles. I'm hoping they'll develop to a point where they'll handle laterals instinctively. We're going all the way on a passing attack."

Defeat Was Good

Davidson, white haired though still in his 30's, believes that Army's 3 to 0 defeat by Navy last fall, first time the midshipmen upset the cadets since 1921, did more good than harm.

"The cadets got so used to beating Navy," he said, "that they lost their mental edge. I knew it before the game last fall. There was nothing I could do to lift them out of it. Now it's different. They'll be all the tougher this year for that licking."

Davidson is concentrating on a forward passing combination that looks spectacular. Joe Nazarro of Brooklyn, who didn't fit into last year's combination headed by Jack Buckler and Joe Stancock, is the finest passer Army has boasted in years. On the ends are two brilliant receivers, Capt. Bill Shuler and Maurice Preston.

Bigger, Faster Line

A bigger, faster line than last year's combination, a plentitude of backs with none of Buckler's outstanding ability, gives Davidson a chance to mould a more versatile eleven. He's going in heavily for single wing-back formations, and a running attack that moves as frequently to the right as to the left.

The schedule includes only nine games instead of the customary ten:

Oct. 5, William & Mary; 12, Gettysburg; 19, Harvard; 26, Yale at New Haven; Nov. 2, Mississippi State; 9, Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh; 16, Notre Dame at New York; 23, Vermont; 30, Navy at Philadelphia.

O'DOUL'S HOMER WINS GAME

By the Associated Press

They may not want Frank (Lefty) O'Doul in the majors any more, but he still has what it takes to win ball games in the Pacific Coast league.

The former two-time National league batting champ, now doing right well for himself as manager of the league-leading San Francisco Seals, proved this yesterday to the discomfiture of the Hollywood Stars.

Incidentally he gave his young sluggers a first rate object lesson in the gentle art of hitting when hits are needed—an art for which they recently have shown a considerable inaptitude.

With Hollywood leading, 2 to 1, in the seventh frame and Larry Woodall on base, O'Doul inserted himself as a pinch hitter and hammered one of Beryl Horne's offerings over the fence for the run which gave the Seals a 3-2 victory and a full two-game margin of their leadership. Sam Gibson chalked up his 19th win.

The San Francisco Missions, with Manager "Gabby" Street back in uniform and the graces of the league moguls, dropped into a second place tie with Portland by losing, 5 to 6, to the Los Angeles Angels, while the ducks were beating Seattle, 2 to 1.

The Missions booted away their ball game as Arnold Statz scored the winning run on Wayne Osborne's wild pitch. Gilbert English's single with the bags loaded spelled defeat for Seattle.

The Sacramento Senators ran their winning streak to seven straight and climbed into undisputed possession of sixth place by trouncing Oakland, 7 to 3.

JACKSON STOPS ROY OCKLEY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5. (AP) Young Peter Jackson, Los Angeles Negro claimant to the California lightweight title, has a new distinction today. He knocked out Roy Ockley of Portland twice with one blow.

In the fifth round of a scheduled eight-rounder last night, the Negro caught Ockley with a hard left hook to the jaw. Ockley spun to the canvas and was counted out. Then he got up, fell flat on his face again and had to be revived before he could leave the ring.

ORANGE WINS FROM RUDES IN OPENER

St. Mary's Athletic Club Humbles Santa Ana in Los Angeles Tourney

Honor in defeat was bestowed upon Santa Ana's City league champion Elks today, as the result of their fine but unsuccessful showing in the opening round of the Southern California softball championships in Los Angeles last night.

The B. P. O. E.'s lost to the St. Mary's Athletic clubmen of Los Angeles, 3-2, in a spirited, extra-inning struggle, to face elimination along with the Seal Beach Legionnaires, who were beaten by the Los Angeles Union Oil, 4-2.

Oscar Stutheit's 20-30 stars of Orange, however, carried the county colors into the second round with a well-earned decision over the A. H. Rude nine of Los Angeles, 3-2. Roger Larimer of the 20-30's yielded only four bingles.

Another local standard-bearer will be the Funk Confectioners of Anaheim, who face the Mt. Whitney Pirates of San Pedro at 8 o'clock tonight on Thompson field, 3641 East Florence avenue.

Approximately 7000 fans saw the opening eight contests.

Other results: Glendale Civic cleaners defeated Alhambra Mallory's, 5-2; Federal Medaks beat Antelope Valley, 2-1; Pacific Casting, Huntington Park, trimmed the Santa Monica Brodie club, 6-2; Barrell Inn defeated Murphy's ranch, Whittier, 3-2, and Wilson brothers, North Hollywood, blanked the Covina Warblers, 11-0.

Elks Play Well

The Elks played sterling ball and outhit St. Mary's, 6-4. Ellwood Lindley and Ed Bristow pitched brilliantly, each allowing only two hits. The two off Bristow were singles that combined with an error to give St. Mary's two runs and the game in the eighth. The Elks broke a 1-1 deadlock with a run on four consecutive walks in their part of the extra period. Catcher Herb Bowe led the Elks' attack with two hits.

TELLS LIE TO EASE WOMAN DUE TO DIE

Prison Director Says Promised Clemency to Mrs. Madison

UKIAH, Cal., Sept. 5. (AP)—Poignancy of a woman in the shadow of the gallows for shooting her husband so touched the heart of a prison director, he revealed today, that he "lied like a gentleman" to ease her grief by telling her "the governor will not let you hang."

"I knew nothing of the sort," the director, A. R. O'Brien, publisher of the Ukiah Republican Press and newest member of the state board of prison directors, said under an article in his paper headed "Why the Director Lied."

"But my code of life," he wrote, "had taught me that when it becomes necessary to save a woman from a great grief, the thing to do is to lie like a gentleman. . . . I'll probably be fired from my state job, but I'm satisfied whatever happens."

The woman is Mrs. Nellie Madison, sentenced to die for killing her husband, a Los Angeles film director, whom Mrs. Madison maintains she shot in self-defense.

"The minutes I was in her presence seemed hours. I could not keep my eyes from roaming to her neck," said O'Brien in describing his visit to the Tehachapi women's prison.

"I pictured her standing on the trap above 13 steps in the execution room at San Quentin. I could almost see the rope adjusted about her throat, the knot behind her left ear.

"I decided that now or never was the time for me to do my Boy Scout good deed."

He related he turned to her and said: "Do not say anything to anyone—just keep this to yourself. I happen to know Governor Merriam will not let you hang. Don't worry as you have been worrying. Everything will come out all right."

Governor Frank F. Merriam declined to comment.

But by telephone O'Brien said: "That woman was in a hell of a jam and I couldn't stand to see her suffer."

MORE ABOUT CATTLE

makers of the apparatus were located, also in Los Angeles. A set was rushed to the Hathaway ranch. The maker's agent said the apparatus never had been used on cattle. He held out no glowing hopes, and particularly was of the opinion that the most seriously afflicted calf was beyond help.

Calf Is Saved

The two pads through which the short waves pass into the pulmonary region were applied to the animal and the treatment began. According to Mr. Hathaway, a change for the better was noticeable almost immediately. The congestion was relieved. The treatment was continued, and within a few days the animal for which the grave had been dug was on its feet again. Today, Mr. Hathaway said, it is as robust and healthy as any animal on the place.

The same treatment was given to the other six pneumonia sufferers. They likewise improved. Every one of the animals was saved. Since that time, which was late in January, four other animals at the Hathaway yards have been afflicted with pneumonia, and all have been saved by the short wave radio treatment. The method has a 100 per cent record on the Hathaway ranch.

May Be First Usage

So far as is known, the Hathaway ranch is the first place where short wave treatments have been used on cattle. The system is comparatively new, even in treatment of human pneumonia, having come into use within the past year. Mr. Hathaway said he understood the same 100 per cent record of success had been achieved at the White Memorial hospital, where four short wave sets are constantly busy.

The Hathaway feeding yards are operated on Little Lake road, on the southern edge of Santa Fe Springs. Between 300 and 400 thoroughbred animals are being fattened there the year round. The shipments amount to 20 or 30 carloads per year.

A large part of the feed for the stock is raised on the Hathaway ranches at Santa Fe Springs and Antelope valley. One feeding practice which the ranch has found beneficial is the use of molasses. Tubs of the sweet fluid are in the yards at all times and whenever their sweet tooths begin to call for it the Herefords satisfy their yearning. Mr. Hathaway said that the stock always commands a top position on the Los Angeles market. Hay, previously chopped by machine, is fed automatically. It is blown into a large elevated hopper from which it drops down as the cattle eat it in the feeding sheds below. Approximately 400 animals can "put their feet under the table" at this shed.

Method Is Mystery

Although the radio treatment for pneumonia has proved extremely successful, Mr. Hathaway said very little is known about it so far. Just how it relieves the illness is somewhat of a mystery, he said. As long as the method works and relieves the congestion so efficiently, however, the ranch management is not particularly worried about how the miracle is performed.

The treatment has attracted wide attention and has been discussed in the American Veterinary and Medical Journal. Experts from Colorado, Utah and Minnesota have come to the Hathaway ranch to observe the treatment and learn about its success, Mr. Hathaway said.

Failed to Collect Penny Tax

Eugene Gauck of Cleveland sold a half-dozen sugar buns and did not collect the penny sales tax for the State, so they put him in the county jail, as above. Meanwhile he wondered what would become of his wife and two small children and his bakery that was empty of things to sell, as the State pondered his case.

Vets Hear Stephenson Tell Of Jack Fisher's War Deeds

Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, last night heard Terry E. Stephenson declare that Jack Fisher, Santa Ana man, after whom the chapter was named, is ranked as one of California's outstanding heroes of the World war.

Mr. Stephenson addressed the chapter and its auxiliary at the chapter's monthly meeting at Knights of Columbus hall. His subject was "Heroes of California."

"I have always felt," said he, "that Jack's heroism was of such a modest nature that few of us realized the eminence to which he reached in the annals of the war department. Jack was one of two Californians to receive the Medalle Militaire, the highest award within the gift of the French government. That was but one of many awards given him by countries engaged in the world strife of 1917 and 1918."

Tried to Hide Medals

Stephenson recounted the rare manner in which Jack Fisher, arriving home from France on crutches recovering from wounds, had tried to hide the fact that he had medals galore for bravery in action. It was through records that Mr. Stephenson, then a newspaperman, pinned on Jack the fact that the stories were known, and not until then did Mr. Stephenson get a reluctant story or two from Jack.

"Shucks!" said Jack, "I didn't do any more than lots of fellows who did not happen to come under an officer's eye."

"I asked Jack about that Medalle Militaire," said Mr. Stephenson, "which, as you know, was given him for action when he, an American sent into French trenches to sketch the ground to be taken over by Americans, grabbed a French rifle and went over the top with the French.

"Here is about how Jack told the story: 'I dodged down in a dugout and found a lot of Germans down there yelling "kamerad"; I told them to get out and they got out, and I followed them. When we were nearly across "No-Man's Land" I got plugged. Later in the hospital a French general came along, kissed me on both cheeks and pinned something on me. And that's all I know about it.'"

Mr. Stephenson's talk last night reviewed briefly the career of Capt. "Neb" Holderman, Santa Ana's heroic captain with the Lost Battalion, explaining that Captain Holderman alone from the soldiers who went from Orange county was given the congressional medal of honor. He also referred to the fact that this same honor was given many years ago to the father of County Supervisor W. C. Jerome for gallant action in an Indian engagement in Arizona.

Turing directly to the stories that center around some of the outstanding figures in the history of California, Mr. Stephenson discussed the coming of Cabrillo in 1742.

"He was sent to find out what he could about this unknown coast," said Mr. Stephenson. "He sailed in two frail vessels, one of them without a deck, and recorded his visits to San Diego, Catalina, San Pedro and elsewhere. He gave his life to the job, for he died on San Miguel Island of injuries sustained during a storm."

Juan Bautista de Anza, who led a great caravan of settlers to California, across mountains and deserts; Father Junipero Serra, the founder of the missions; and Father Lasuen, the great administrator of the missions, were portrayed by the speaker.

The explorations and the ups and downs in the life of John C. Fremont were recounted. Two of the outstanding exploits in the life of Kit Carson, the great scout, the ride of Long John Brown from Los Angeles to San Francisco in 1846, and the sacrifices of Charles Stanton in the Donner expedition were outlined.

"When congress established the hall of fame," said Mr. Stephenson, "there was no hesitation in California in awarding a place in that hall to Father Junipero Serra. Finally, the second place was given to a Protestant minister, Rev. Thomas Starr King of San Francisco, who was credited with having saved California for the Union. His power of leadership and gift of oratory went into the campaign at the beginning of the Civil war, and California voted to stay with the North rather than with the Confederacy."

'Boys in Grey' To Meet With G. A. R. in 1938

AMARILLO, Tex., Sept. 5. (AP)—Confederate veterans have agreed to forget any differences that might have remained and meet with the Grand Army of the Republic in a joint reunion of Civil war veterans at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1938.

The fading remnant of the boys who wore the grey in the war between the states voted unanimous yesterday to accept an invitation to the proposed blue and grey reunion on the Gettysburg battelfield, where nearly 30,000 soliders lost their lives in a three-day battle in 1863.

NEW BILL OPENS AT BROADWAY

Two late films, "Super Speed," romantic drama, and "Hot Tip," comedy drama, open today at the Broadway theater.

ZaSu Pitts and James Gleason are featured in "Hot Tip." Gleason considers himself something of a handicapper in the film, and gets into many jams because his wife, Miss Pitts, hates gambling and betting. How Gleason finally becomes the owner of a race horse, which pulls him out of his financial difficulties, is the theme of the film.

"Super Speed" tells the story of an all-American quarterback who blazed his way to love and fame through a maze of intrigue. Randy Rogers, Florence Rice, Mary Carlisle, Charley Grapewin and Arthur Hohl have leading roles.

FOG WARNS DRIVERS TO BUY SAFE TIRES

Warned by the first fogs of fall, with their accompanying hazard of slippery streets, Southern California motorists are hastening to buy new, safe tires, according to Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of the Pep Boys of California. With skidding representing one of the most dangerous motoring menaces, and with tire prices at low levels, automobile owners realize that taking such risks is foolhardy, Rosenfeld stated.

"The time when the average motorist would hazard his life on worn, slick casings as a gesture of economy is past," Rosenfeld said. "Educational campaigns against such dangers have awakened intelligent people, and deep cuts in tire prices have offered the final, clinching reason.

"As a result, all our stores are doing a tremendous business on the ultra-safe, extra long-wearing 'Cornell' tires which we feature.

"Increased demand for foglights and other accessories of 'safety-first' importance indicates that the 1935 motorist is intelligently safeguarding himself and his family against unnecessary dangers."

The Pep Boys store here is located at 211 North Main street.

DISCONTINUE SERVICE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Discontinuance of its Santa Monica-Santa Catalina island service until May 31, 1936, had been granted the Wilmington Transportation company today by the state railroad commission. Inaugurated several months ago, the company said the service has shown a loss of $3500 a month.

DRILLING MAY START SOON NEAR CITY

Property owners in the 800-acre lease of the Continental Oil company southwest of Santa Ana were anticipating drilling operations in the near future following the presence of surveyors on the lease Tuesday. They were expecting equipment to be on the ground within 10 days.

The lease requires drilling to start by Oct. 1. The site which the company has selected is on Monte Vista avenue between Raitt and Sullivan streets. Arrangements are being made to secure water for the operations.

Officials of the company have told property owners in the lease that new equipment will be used in drilling the first well, on which a thorough test is to be made. If the well becomes a producer, the lease agreement provides for drilling a second well within a reasonable time. The company is planning to develop the field in a thoroughgoing way if oil is found.

Property owners in the lease area are to receive one-sixth royalties, and it is provided that if other concerns drill near the borders of the lease, offset holes are to be sunk by the Continental.

Bats Smoke Fags In Pennsylvania, Says Fisherman

WAYNESBURG, Pa. Sept. 5. (AP) The bats here smoke cigarets, said Ershel Taylor.

He said he flipped away a cigaret while fishing one night recently. No sooner had it left his hand than a bat swooped down, seized the lighted cigaret in its mouth, circled around for several minutes and dropped it into the water.

CAN'T TAKE DOGS TO SCHOOL

Poundmaster Gives Warning

With practically all schools in the county scheduled to open next Tuesday, County Poundmaster H. D. Pickering today issued a warning to parents and children to keep dogs away from school playgrounds.

"Dogs must be kept off school playgrounds during school hours," he said, declaring the order is a safety and health ruling by the various school boards for the protection of children.

"The schools are responsible for the safety of the students during school hours," he said. "In several cases, not in this county, children have been bitten by pet dogs and the school administrations were blamed for not having used proper care in protecting the children.

"Students are asked to cooperate with the schools and refrain from bringing their pets to school with them, and the parents are asked to assist by keeping pet dogs at home during school hours. Dogs found on school grounds will be impounded."

PRISONER STILL ON FOOD STRIKE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Pleading for a chance to repay an alleged $262 embezzlement, Herbert J. Teater, former New York city apartment building manager, entered the fourth week of a food strike in jail today.

Teater, held since Aug. 15 for New York officers, has not eaten since that date, although he will drink water, jail attaches said.

His former employers in New York caused his arrest when rent money was allegedly misappropriated.

FACE 'DOGNAPING' COUNT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Charged with the "dognaping" of Kimo, a snow white Eskimo-movie dog, two men today faced trial for grand theft. The two, George White and Irven Rosenberg, allegedly took the dog from the home of its owner, J. E. Mitchell.

GARNER HEADS MEMORIAL GROUP FOR WILL ROGERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 5. (AP)—Vice President Garner was selected as tentative chairman of a national Will Rogers memorial committee yesterday by a group called into conference by Governor E. W. Marland.

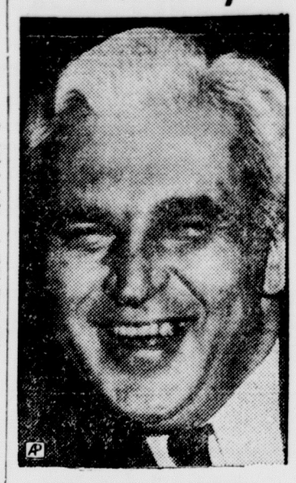

Jesse Jones, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, was named tentative treasurer.

Neither Garner nor Jones was present at the meeting, which included representatives of Rogers' old homeland, northeastern Oklahoma, and others from California and Texas.

LEE'S DRIVING BANNED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—The speeding days of Thomas (Tommy) Lee, automobile and radio executive, are over—for 60 days, anyhow. Lee, arrested four times for fast driving, surrendered his driver's license yesterday and was ordered to remain away from the wheel of his car for two months.

His Excellency—

The Governor of Indiana

Paul V. McNutt, Indiana's governor, seems always to have been at the head of something . . . was tops in his classes in college . . . became national commander of the American Legion . . . dean of the law school at Indiana university . . . and then governor of his state. He likes to make speeches, ride in airplanes, play golf and poker, is interested in little theater movements and the radio, and will go miles to see a good football game. Prematurely gray, the handsome, 44-year-old executive aspires for higher political position within the democratic party. He is boss of the party organization in Indiana and rules with an iron hand. Motion picture folk, who have visited the governor say the silver screen missed a personality when McNutt went in for politics rather than romance.

DIVER LOSES LIFE AS AIR LINE CLOGS

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 5. (AP)—Ocean depths he had fearlessly penetrated for years today had brought death to Julius Johnson, 48, deep sea diver.

Apparently suffocated when an airline clogged, Johnson's lifeless body was hauled up from the ocean late yesterday by his helper, Harold Johnsen.

The veteran diver made his last dive for an anchor disengaged from the gambling boat Casino.

He had been lowered about 200 feet at a point four miles off the coast.

"My partner had made his fourth trip down to look for the anchor when he suddenly signaled to be hoisted to the surface," Johnsen related.

"Then he signalled for me to stop. I did so, and the life line went slack. Pretty soon I became worried and tried to pull him up. But he was too heavy."

The helper rushed to the nearby gambling boat Monte Carlo and returned with assistance. It was an hour before the diver's body was brought to the surface.

SKATER WINS DAMAGES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—An award of $1000 was the balm ordered paid to Bernadette Young for auto accident injuries which kept her from skating in the qualifying rounds of the 1936 Olympic games. The young women, also known as Peggy Jean, who won the 1933-1934 figure skating championship in this country, sued Hartley Caldwell for injuries she said he caused in the accident.

VOL. 1, NO. 109 — SANTA ANA, ORANGE COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1935 — SECOND SECTION

COUNTY'S TOTAL ASSESSED VALUATION PUT AT $191,962,630

SANTA ANA IS SECOND IN UTILITIES

City's Common Property Valued at $21,399,045 in Final Figures

Orange county's total assessed valuation is $191,962,630, according to final figures released late yesterday by County Auditor W. T. Lambert. Of the total valuation, $75,007,320 represents common property and $16,955,310 represents public utility property returned to the county for taxing purposes.

The assessed valuation of the 13 municipalities in the county is $90,817,210, and that of the unincorporated area is $101,145,420. Public utility properties in the incorporated area is valued at $9,958,490 while in unincorporated territory the value of operative property is placed at $6,996,820. Common property in the cities is valued at a total of $80,858,720, while in the unincorporated area the total is $94,148,600.

Leading in assessed values on common property Santa Ana is second in benefits to be derived through return of public utilities for taxing purposes. Seal Beach, with operative property valued at $3,348,375, takes first place for public utility valuations. Santa Ana's total valuation of operative and non-operative property heads the list at $23,934,290.

Valuation Here $21,599,045

Common property in Santa Ana is valued at $21,599,045, and public utility property at $2,335,245. Common property in Seal Beach has a total valuation of but $1,988,520, but its total of both operative and non-operative property is placed at $5,336,895.

Children's Wading Pool Features Commonwealth City Park at Fullerton

(This is the eleventh of a series of articles having to do with the establishment and development of Fullerton's two parks, outstanding beauty spots and recreational institutions of Southern California. The series is intended to be informative to those cities which do not enjoy park facilities. Santa Ana is listed in the latter classification.)

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Fullerton's kiddies have a wading pool all to themselves in Commonwealth park because the men of the Fullerton Kiwanis club have not forgotten how much fun it used to be to roll up their pantaloons and cool off their toes.

The pond is located west of the baseball grandstand, and is frequented daily in the summer by 50 to 100 splashing, happy youngsters. Nowadays when children wade, they wade all over, and so they wear sunsuits or bathing suits. This garb comes in handy, too, for the pool is deep enough in places so the smaller children can swim.

Club Gave Material

The pool was built with the State Emergency Relief administration furnishing the labor and the Fullerton Kiwanis club providing the material. Each member of the club subscribed for so many sacks of cement which were used on the project.

The pool was constructed about six months ago when Glenn Lewis was president of the club, which is now headed by Hubert Dawson.

When the pool was finished and filled with water, the club went to the spot in a body to dedicate it. City Engineer Herman Hiltscher of Fullerton has a photograph portraying part of the dedication ceremonies. The picture shows in the foreground a group of Kiwanians with their trousers rolled above their knees, dedicating the pond by wading in it.

Those In Picture

Those in the picture are Dan O'Hanlon, Albert Sitton, Gus Hagenstein, Otto Evans, Hubert Dawson, A. W. Purdy and Jesse Chilton. Standing on the bank in the background of the picture are the other members of the club. The photograph does not show the fact but the story is told that after the picture was taken the waders found their shoes floating in the water behind them. Some of the Kiwanians on the bank were having difficulty in keeping their faces straight.

Since that time the Kiwanians have left the pool to the youngsters. The kiddies also enjoy the other playground features of the park, which include swings, a slide, gymnastic apparatus and a sand box.

J. C. TO HAVE SEVEN NEW COURSES

Seven new courses have been added to the curriculum at Santa Ana Junior college, it was announced today by D. K. Hammond, director of the college.

Bacteriology, a course required for student nurses, will be added in the science department. The physiology course has been changed to a five-unit class and will be offered the first semester. Both subjects will have a fee of $2, approximately one-half of the amount at other state institutions, Director Hammond said.

May Enter Hospital

Frederick H. Schroeder, graduate of U. C. L. A. and the University of California at Berkeley, will instruct these classes included in the pre-nursing curriculum. Students who complete the pre-nursing work at Santa Ana Junior college will be admitted to the Orange County hospital to complete their training.

Vocational printing will be offered at the junior college Fine Arts press under the direction of Thomas E. Williams. The class will meet four hours daily, from 12:30 to 4:30 p. m., and the International Typographical union lesson course plan will be used. The class will be open only to high school graduates, and students may proceed as rapidly as possible. Certificates will be issued for each unit of work completed. English and mathematics as related subjects will be taught at the print shop.

Advance News Work

A course in modern feature writing will be offered during the second semester by John H. McCoy, journalism instructor. It will be an advanced study in newspaper work.

Instrumental quartet work will be instructed by Leland Auer and will carry degree units. Ernest Crozier Phillips, who will teach public speaking as well as drama this year, will offer a new course in extempore speaking.

Costume design will be offered in the art department by Miss Frances Egge and will include actual commercial instruction. The arts and crafts classes will be offered this year on the junior college campus in Bungalow C, just north of the main art studio. Miss Lucinda Griffith, new instructor at the college this year, will be in charge of these classes.

Other new additions will be the installation of a weather bureau on the Board of Education building which will furnish reports for a Los Angeles radio station. The badminton classes will be enlarged and will be offered as mixed classes, Mr. Hammond stated.

Lloyd George Abandons League; Wants Geneva Body Refashioned

By CHARLES P. NUTTER

LONDON Sept. 5. (AP)—David Lloyd George last survivor of the "Big Three" combination that forged the world's hope for a lasting instrument of peace in the crucible of flashing tempers at Versailles 16 years ago, has turned his back on the never-very-cherished prouduct of his joint parentage—the League of Nations.

Adept from 45 years of fiery British politics at picking a wide variety of clubs with which to belabor his enemies, the silver-thatched Welshman, now engaged in an attempted comeback to his wartime glory, has chosen the league's disarmament and peace failures as an instrument to embarrass the present national conservative government.

League 'Blunted Sword'

Speaking allegorically of the league as a sword, he says the conservatives "have blunted and notched and cracked until it is almost worthless."

"Unfortunately," he told a labor group here recently, "there is only one thing to do, and that is put it back in the furnace and recast it. The conservatives have completely destroyed its power."

Contending that the league is "in the ditch"—put there by conservatives—Lloyd George, who sat in at the Hall of Mirrors when the leauge was moulded blames his enemies for his present impotence.

"Look at the league today," he challenges, shaking his famed Welch mane like an angry bull preparing for the charge, "flouted by everybody, Japan, Bolivia and Paraguay, Germany and now Italy."

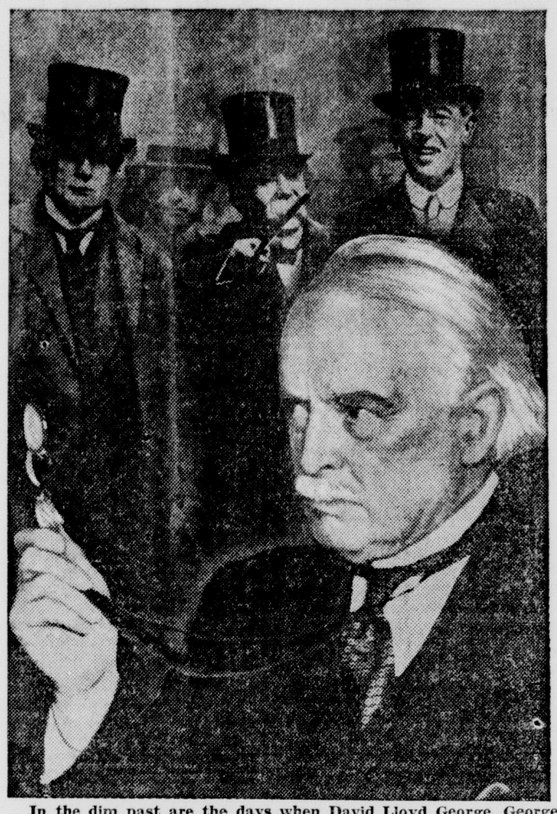

Reserves Campaign Plans

Lloyd George has not yet informed the British electorate what he would do to revitalize it, but this is expected when he opens his speaking campaign for the elections which he hopes will sweep him again to the summit of power where he wants to try out radically different attacks on the present unemployment and depression problems of Britian.

The tombs has claimed the other joint authors of the league, President Woodrow Wilson, world idealist, and the "Tiger of France," Georges Clemenceau, wearied by war but unbending in his aim so to fortify his France that Germany woulld not again trouble her.

Lloyd George himself, fresh from the power that saw him bring desperate Britian through to a victorious peace, was, like most Englishmen of that day, impatient at all the talk of an idealistic family of nations, and anxious, like Clemenceau to get on with the business in hand—hang the Kaiser, handcuff Germany and divide the spoils.

History records the queer march of world affairs that later saw the league repudiated by the country whose President had sponsored it, while England and France, at first wholly cold to the idea and barely tolerant of its formation, became its staunchest and almost sole important champions.

In the dim past are the days when David Lloyd George, Georges Clemenceau and Woodrow Wilson, the "big three" at Versailles, fashioned the League of Nations. The fiery Welshman, sole survivor of the notable trio, is shown (below) in a pose which he struck while arguing that the league has become impotent and must be made over.

ACTOR'S SON HELD IN TRAFFIC DEATH

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5. (AP)—A manslaughter investigation centered today around Bryant Washburn, jr., 19-year-old son of the old-time silent screen star, in connection with a traffic death.

Young Washburn was arrested on suspicion of manslaughter after a West Los Angeles coroner's jury returned a verdict that his alleged careless driving caused the death of Berger Murck, 34. The mishap occured last Sunday.

GILLETTE RANCH SOLD

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 5. (AP)—The 360-acre ranch estate owned by the late King C. Gillette, razor magnate, today belonged to Clarence Brown, film director. The estate, which includes a 30-room home and three guest bungalows, a lake and an airplane landing field, reputedly sold for $500,000.

SUCCESSOR FOR YANKWICH

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 5. (AP)—Gov. Merriam has announced the selection of Frank G. Swain, Los Angeles and Whittier lawyer, for the vacancy in the Los Angeles superior court caused by the elevation of Judge Leon Yankwich to the federal bench.

"There's gold in these hills," Puffy whispers to Dungle.
"Else why would this man send us back to the jungle?"
Puff turns to the man, saying, "don't be alarmed—
We won't steel your gold, sir, and you'll not be harmed."

JOBS AVAILABLE FOR STUDENTS

Funds for Federal Emergency Relief administration work for students at Santa Ana Junior college will be available again this year under the National Youth administration, according to Dean of Men Calvin Flint, who will be in charge of the project this year.

Students will be given jobs whereby they may earn from $5 to $20 per month according to the hours put in. Jobs will be assigned on the basis of the need of the student, to help those who cannot secure a college education without assistance. The project at the junior college is under the auspices of the National Youth administration a federal government enterprise to assist needy students between the ages of 16 and 26, said Dean Flint.

Applications for work will be received at the junior college office beginning Monday, September 9. All will be classified at the same time by a committee of SERA investigators. Students will be given work as long as they do "C" average work. No discrimination is made against students from outside Santa Ana.

Dean Flint will have the assistance of Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, dean of women.

PRIZE STOCK PARADES AT FAIR TODAY

Orange Man's 16-Hitch Draft Team Feature of State Event

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 5. (AP)—A million dollars' worth of the far west's finest livestock paraded before the reviewing stand of Gov. Frank F. Merriam at the state fair here today.

Led by 300 young Future Farmers, the livestock included prize-winning horses, cattle and goats. A 16-hitch draft horse team owned by E. G. Stimson, Orange, and a yoke of oxen drawing a 75-year-old logging cart were outstanding attractions.

The parade was headed by Fred H. Bixby, Long Beach, chairman of the fair's livestock committee.

Governor Merriam, guest of honor for the day, held a reception in the morning, and at noon addressed a group of state and civic leaders at a luncheon in the assembly room.

Joe Scagliotti, 17-year-old Hollister youth, received the highest honor the Future Farmers of America can give to a member, the special star state farmer award, the trophy of the Sacramento chamber of commerce.

Harold McCurry, fair director and president of the chamber of commerce, in handing the trophy to Scagliotti, recited some of the things he has done in his short life.

Joe, said Mr. McCurry, has just graduated from the Hollister High school, and in his last year farmed 28 acres of sugar beets, milked 30 cows daily and worked in the Hollister Future Farmer chapter's experimental farm on a strain of tomatoes to find which variety is most suitable for the Hollister area.

During the afternoon Governor Merriam was to present state farmer degree keys to the 30 outstanding Future Farmers of the state. The award is the highest the boys can receive.

JAPAN NAMES NEW WAR CHIEF

TOKYO, Sept. 5. (AP)—General Yoshiyuki Kawashma succeeded General Senjuro Hayashi as minister of war yesterday.

Hayashi resigned as an aftermath of the assassination of Lieut Gen. Tetsuzan Nagata last August 12. Nagata had been virtual administrative head of the army and Hayashi's resignation was in conformity with the Japanese conception of responsibility.

The new war minister is noted as a peace-maker between the moderate and the fanatically patriotic wings of the army.

Baptist Woman's Society to Have 'Into God's Garden' For Year's Theme

Year Books Presented Members

Mrs. E. L. Morris Writes Original Play to Dedicate Theme

Baptist women took the first step "Into God's Garden," this year's theme of programs for the Woman's society of the church, yesterday afternoon, when an original play by Mrs. Earl L. Morris, entitled "A Garden Tour," was presented in the social hall of the church.

The play was in dedication of the garden, which is to be the location of the society's programs. As the stage curtains were drawn, a scene of ferns, shrubs, flowers, and a bubbling fountain was disclosed. Mrs. Morris read the prologue to the presentation. As the characters chatted in the garden setting, they compared the various kinds of gardens with the work done by Christian agencies in the mission fields.

Mrs. Fannie Reeves, Mrs. E. A. Davison, Helen Lowe, Betty Lee, Mary Ann Newcomer, Dorothy Robinson, Ruby Bell Williams, Margaret Lockett, Barbara Brown and Roberta McBurney took the character roles. Miss Mame Haven, Miss Mildred Marchant and Mrs. W. H. Harrison assisted with stage and musical effects. At the close of the play, Mrs. J. P. Williams sang "Thank God for a Garden." The program committee included Mrs. A. F. Hill, chairman, Mrs. Earl L. Morris, Mrs. Lawrence E. Coffman and Mrs. Williams.

Year Books Issued

Just previous to the play, Mrs. Williams, editor of the year book, more than satisfied anticipation of the members when she distributed the 1935-36 manuals. A garden in green with an open gate, the pathway leading to the mountains, was the cover etching. Replicas of it in lighter green provided the background for each of the succeeding pages.

Setting the pattern for the year's programs, a verse, "Thy gates shall be open continually," was inscribed on the frontispiece. Garden verses, appropriate to each section of committees and phase of business, headed each department of the manual.

Schedules for each meeting are to have garden titles. Industrial work is to be known as garden work; luncheon will be served in the garden; business is to be known as garden plans, while the song service will be called melodies of the garden. Blessings of the garden will be the term for devotions.

All About Gardens

October's program is to have the theme of "Weeding the Garden." "A Mixed Bouquet" will be the theme of the November session. In December, the program will center on "Oriental Gardens," while January will have "A Rock Garden." "The Century Plant" is set for February, "Spring Blossoms for March, "Desert Plants" for April, and "Gifts from the Garden" for May. "Hardy Annuals" will be the topic for June and "Fruits of the Garden" for July.

Throughout the year, the garden melody is to be "In the Garden," a popular hymn.

Inaugurating a new policy of committee reports, department vice presidents spoke for their chairmen, unless special business arises. Introduction of a cardboard tree, which is to grow according to contributions made by members, was made by Mrs. Warren Brakeman, in charge of general finance. A trunk and twigs, representing a contribution of $50, had already been sketched in by Mrs. Brakeman, to start the year.

Singing was led during the devotional service by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle. Mrs. Richard Martin and Miss Havens presented incidental music.

Reports of the recent conference at Pacific Palisades were given by a delegation from the W. W. G., including Dorothy Jenkins, Dorothy Van Horn, Rosemary Harp, Lenora Marchant, Chelena McBurney, Ruth Lockett and Elaine Owings.

The Rev. Jose Zamora, pastor of the Mexican church in Garden Grove, reported on the recent conference of Baptist Mexican pastors in San Diego. The luncheon prayer service was under direction of Mrs. E. A. Bell, assisted by Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks.

Afternoon devotionals were given by Mrs. Harry Evan Owings. Mrs. M. M. Holmes made the prayer at meeting.

Luncheon was served by a committee including Mesdames E. A. Knowlton, Ray C. Echolls, Edward J. Opper, Ernest W. Ashland, Richard H. Martin, and Ray Boyd.

The morning quilting was under Mrs. William Dietrich; white cross under Mrs. Earl Glenn; and industrial sewing under Mrs. P. H. Norton.

Leaders To Plan Year at Meet

With standards lifted high for a record year's work, leaders in the California Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet to complete plans for the coming year, Tuesday in the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles. Mrs. Neil Beisel, seventh vice president and director of health in the state, and Mrs. W. T. Kirven, president of fourth district, P.-T. A., will represent Santa Ana and Orange county's 6,000 members, at the board meeting.

Mrs. Beisel will be privileged to attend the state board of directors' meeting Monday at the Biltmore. Tuesday evening will bring a dinner meeting for the 27 district presidents.

Wednesday, Mrs. Kirven plans to provide a courtesy seat on the board for her first vice president, Mrs. Clarence R. Vanderburg of Fullerton.

Fourth district will launch its year with a school of instruction and an all-day meeting Thursday, Sept. 19, in Buena Park. District chairmen will meet with and instruct local chairmen in their duties for the coming year.

Plans for the annual district membership meeting are next in line.

'CHRISTIANIZING OF HOME' IS TOPIC FOR MEETING

"Christianizing the home" was the subject at yesterday's meeting of the United Presbyterian Missionary society at the church. Mrs. J. T. Raitt led the discussion. Little Jean Woodward and Ralph Raitt repeated the 23rd Psalm.

"Home Sweet Home" was presented as a duet by Mr. W. W. Hoy and Mrs. Elsie Woodward, with Mrs. Eleanor Fish at the piano. Mrs. W. H. Stevenson read an article on "Religious Education in the Home." Remarks on "Christianizing the Modern Home" were made by Mrs. A. E. Kelly, and Mrs. Hoy followed with a talk on "Experiences in Religious Education in the Home."

Previous to the meeting, the Ladies' Aid society sewed in the morning, and a covered-dish luncheon was served at noon. Hostesses were Mrs. E. C. Lukens, Mrs. C. T. Eisele, and Mrs. M. M. Tidball.

Committee reports were given by Mrs. Fred Millen, Miss Martha Smith, Mrs. Tidball, Miss Ethel Collins, Mrs. S. H. Finley and Mrs. Raitt.

MOTHER HONORED BY DAUGHTER AT INFORMAL PARTY

Mrs. W. B. Oliphant of Santa Ana was complimented very prettily on a recent afternoon when her daughter, Mrs. Viola Hill, entertained in her home at 512 Wellington, for a group of friends.

Pink and white summer blossoms centered the table at which Mrs. Hill served birthday cake and ices.

Guests included Mrs. Oliphant and her two daughters, Hazel and Pat, and Mesdames Arthur Trawick, John Newman and Claude Sleeper of Santa Ana, Mrs. Clarence Tedford, Laguna Beach, and two sisters of the hostess, Mesdames Francis Keeler and Dorothy Rotollo, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Oliphant spent the next few days visiting Mrs. Rotollo, and attended a birthday dinner for her husband, Lawrence Rollo, Wednesday evening in the home.

PICNIC IN PARK ENJOYED BY FAMILY GROUP

An informal picnic dinner party in the Anaheim city park was enjoyed by a group which met yesterday to honor Dr. C. M. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop of Texas, who are in Long Beach for the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kirven of Santa Ana planned the party, which also included as guests their son, Carter Kirven of Palo Alto; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Nooman and children, David and Dorothea of Texas, who are soon to return home after a visit in the Southland, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kirven of Anaheim.

Dr. Bishop is a retired minister, and has taught theology in Southern Methodist university, Dallas, Texas.

MARY CASH FETED AT BIRTHDAY PICNIC

Birthday compliments were showered on Miss Mary Cash last Friday night at Jack Fisher park, when a steak bake was held there by a group of her friends.

Yuma, Mecca Chosen By Two Girls

Yuma, Ariz., famed marriage mecca, was chosen recently by two attracive young Orange girls as the place of their weddings.

A surprise announcement of her marriage August 22, was made by Miss Janet Welty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Welty, 628 East Palmyra avenue ,at a bridge party given at the home Tuesday evening. She became the bride of Robert Paulus jr. Olive, in Yuma. Announcement was made when the hostess distributed tiny bags of rice tied with white ribron streamers and inscribed: "Janet, Bob—August 22, '35—Yuma."

Santa Ana Student

The bride was graduated from Orange High school in 1933, and from Santa Ana Junior college last June. The bridegroom was a member of the class of '30 of Orange High school, and is employed in an Olive filling station. They will live in Orange.

Bridge prizes went to Miss Lois Reeves and Miss Rosalie Smith.

Other guests were Miss Clara Fitchen, Miss Lois Reeves, Miss Rosalie Smith, Miss Dorothy Finley, Miss Grace Robertson, Santa Ana; Miss Eleanor Bowyer, Mrs. Jess Stanfield, Mrs. Duane Armstrong, Miss Elaine Smith, Miss Frances Fallen, Miss Emma Husk, Miss Norma La Ferney, Miss Mildred Cook, Mrs. August Kahlen, Mrs. Ed Brelje, Mrs. Robert Paulus, sr., Mrs. C. C. Gulledge, Mrs. Delwin Malmstram, Mrs. Elmer Amling, Mrs. W. E. Welty, Jeanne, Mary and Joanne Welty.

Robb-Green Rites

The second Orange girl to be married at Yuma within two weeks, Miss Evelyn Green, yesterday announced her marriage to Gene Robb of Santa Ana, in the Yuma Methodist parsonage last Sunday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green, 463 North Center street, and is a graduate of Orange High school, Santa Ana Junior college and U. C. L. A. She is a substitute teacher in the El Modena schools.

The bride wore a navy blue silk ensemble, blue hat, white accessories and a spray of gardenias. The new home is in the Shaw apartments, Anaheim. They will be at home there to friends withing the next two weeks.

MARJORIE BURNS COMPLIMENTED AT SHOWER PARTY

Miss Marjorie Burns, whose marriage to John Kenneth Savage of Laguna Beach is scheduled for Oct. 6, was complimented yesterday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower given by her grandmother, Mrs. Elmer E. Curtis, in her home at 222 South Main street.

Mrs. Curtis' daughter, Mrs. A. R. Burns of Lagauna Beach, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. B. O. Sutton of San Diego, assisted with the hostessing. The guests included a group of friends of Mrs. Curtis and of Miss Burns.

Bridge and chatting occupied the afternoon. The hostess had arranged a table gay with yellow linens, flowers, candles and nutcups, at which ice cream, wafers and coffee were served. Afterward, the shower gifts were opened by the bride-elect.

Other guests included Mesdames W. O. McLeod, Meredith Savage, Roy Spaeth and Nellie Warmer and her daughter, Faye, of Los Angeles; Miss Valerie Sutton, San Diego; Mrs. Ella White, Balboa; Mrs. Ray Clark and Mrs. P. G. Glover, Long Beach; Mrs. Vernon Gray, Glendale; Mrs. Ida Lovegreen, La Verne; Mrs. Roy Runnells, Tustin, and Mesdames Dan Bucheim, R. McDonald, J. P. Murphy, Lambert Harris, P. G. Beisel, Edward Cochems, Carter, Frank Calkins, C. S. Dunphy, V. U. Gibson, Pauline Decker, George Peters, Chester Congden and Nell Jane Green and Misses Nettie Bell and Melvina Matheny, Santa Ana.

SANTA ANANNE IS GUEST AT DINNER

Miss Lella Watson of 1840 West Eighth street motored to Los Angeles this afternoon to be entertained as a guest at a dinner party given by and to attend the Hollywood bowl concert this evening in the box of Mrs. Nora L. Puterbaugh of Hollywood.

Yesterday, Miss Watson entertained Mrs. William Snebley of Santa Ana as her guest at luncheon in Los Angeles, where they went to view an art exhibit.

HARRISONS LEAVE TONIGHT FOR NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Harrison, 920 West Walnut street, are leaving this evening for Riverdale, Calif., near Fresno, where Mr. Harrison is to be instructor of music in the high school.

Organist at the First Baptist church for the past four and one-half years, Mr. Harrison has also been known for his work in the Orange county grammar schools and in the adult education field.

SHADOWLAND SCENE OF INFORMAL PARTY

Shadowland, attractive ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly in the Trabuco canyon, was the scene yesterday of a pleasant informal party honoring eastern guests of the Kellys.

Mrs. James Harding of Santa Ana was among the guests.

Young Reader Gives Tests of Knowing When Person Truly Has Real Love

By MARY STODDARD

The old order changeth!

Usually our brow is knit in a deep brown study puzzling over the best way to answer these love queries.

Behold our amazement when we opened a letter this morning from a young reader who voluntarily offers to answer one of the most difficult, namely: "How can I tell that I am really in love?"

According to her, here's an unfailing test:

Dear Miss Stoddard: Young folks desire to know how one may know when he or she is truly in love.

It is when another's joy or sorrow causes you a similar state of mind—also only LOVE endureth all things.

True love makes one glad if the fare is sumptuous or scant. "Better herbs where love is than stalled ox where love is not."

Love is not for youth alone, for "The world doesn't change much after all — men are only boys grown tall."

To be someone's darling is the greatest happiness of all.

YOUNG READER.

To Trudy

Dear Miss Stoddard: These few lines to Trudy:

You think you can make your own living—I don't blame you.

You want to prove it and again I don't blame you.

But don't forget this is a "man's world" to the contrary, which is as it should be, and that anything you make, to speak of, will be paid for by some mere man—exceptions?

Certainly—but rare.

Home is the place for a woman—with some good man to provide her every need.

In your case it may be a good plan to prove that you are not only capable there, but in other lines, too. The selling game is the hardest line in the world, and especially at this time (any dumbbell can scrub floors) and if you can make a living at that now, you can tell HIM something. Why not try it? NAT.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

What is your opinion on capital punishment?

Miss Elizabeth Wyant: Theoretically and ethically, I'm opposed to it. If, however, the United States would do as Great Britain has been doing, we would get rid of crime in a very short time. These long, drawn-out trials where lawyers encourage delay just to pile up their fees are as criminal as capital punishment could be, I think.

Mrs. Ora K. Heine: Generally speaking, I'm opposed to it. It seems to me that considering the matter psychologically, capital punishment doesn't meet the question of crime. There have been cases of extreme criminal brutality, though, when capital punisment would appear to be justifiable.

Miss Margaret Esau: It's difficult to give a definite opinion on capital punishment, the reasons for it vary so widely. I think kidnaping should be punished by the death penalty—it's the only way to protect the world against that atrocious crime. Generally speaking, I think it's a terrible thing, and taking a life for a life never mends matters.

FRIENDS OF BOY HELP CELEBRATE HIS ANNIVERSARY

A group of young friends of Deroy Hanson had a jolly afternoon recently when they helped him celebrate his fifth birthday anniversary at a party in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hanson, 1124 West Third street.

Pink and green candles were on the big birthday cake which Mrs. Hanson served with other dessert at the close of the afternoon. Deroy received a number of gifts.

Others present were Deroy's great-grandmother, Mrs. Cora Adams; his grandmothers, Mrs. Lars Hanson and Mrs. Laura Tramel; Mrs. Bert Matthews, Mrs. Vilas Childers and Miss Gladys Hale, "grownups," and Alice Jeanne Phillips, Mary Lee Davis, Marjorie Anne Allen, June Childers, Richard Childers, John Childers, Joyce Elaine Matthews and Arline Dreblow.

DINNER PARTY IS GIVEN IN HOME OF K. ZLAKETS

A pleasantly informal dinner party was given recently by Mr. and Mrs. K. Zlaket in their home, 2409 North Park boulevard, in celebration of their recent return from Newfoundland, where they visited with relatives for two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zlaket and daughter, Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ablan, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Zlaket and their children, and Martha, Andrew and Alex Zlaket were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Basha of Newfoundland, whom the Santa Anans visited, plan to come to Santa Ana soon for a visit with the Zlakets.

MRS. BUTLER HART MOTORING HOME FROM WASHINGTON

That Mrs. Butler Hart of Santa Ana and Los Angeles is on her way home by motor from Washington, D. C., where last Friday she witnessed the marriage of her daughter, Miss Anne Hart, to H. Nelson Spottswood, was learned yesterday by Miss Margaret Esau of 1920 Poinsettia, who received a letter from Mrs. Hart.

Fresh California orange blossoms sent to the young bride by Miss Esau arrived in perfect condition and were the first which some of the wedding guests had ever seen, the letter said.

P.-T. A. GIVES FILM RATINGS OF MONTH

Two films made the "best of the month" rating of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, according to dispatch from the critics today. "Broadway Melody of 1936" and "Top Hat" were awarded family and outstanding distinction.

"After the Dance" and "She Married Her Boss," in the field of social drama, were recommended for adults, and in social comedy, "Dressed to Thrill" and "Smart Girl" won mention.

FOR SCOURING

An ordinary cork, thermos bottle size, makes an excellent and safe device for scouring paring and butcher knives. This keeps one's dish cloth free from black stains.

Chocolates Announce Romance

To the question: when is a box of chocolates not a box of chocolates, members of Phi Omega sorority might well answer you, "when it's an announcement."

For at a recent meeting of the sorority in a Balboa beach cottage the group took for several days' vacationing, Miss Frances Tibbets passed a candy box as token that she will be married Oct. 11 to J. R. Lester Boyle.

Miss Tibbets is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Tibbets of 2135 North Main street. She was graduated from Santa Ana High school and attended Santa Ana Junior college last year.

Mr. Boyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Boyle, 1425 South Garnsey street, and is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and California Institute of Technology. He is a mechanical engineer at Laguna Beach.

Phi Omega officers for the coming year will be elected Wednesday evening at a meeting in the home of Miss Alice Nelson, 442 South Broadway.

SERA PLAYERS BUSY WORKING ON VARIED PROGRAMS

From a three-act drama, "Home on the Range," to blackface skits and musical productions, players in the SERA dramatic project of Orange county have been busy this year working on programs to be given throughout Orange county.

Singers, dancers, actors and musicians are included in the group, which is led by W. W. Wieman, supervisor; Leon Eckles, general director, and Wally Grigg, stage director. E. N. Biesel is booking agent for the project.

William Bramley acts as stage manager and has charge of building scenery for the shows.

Wally Grigg, Harry Layton, Mrs. Sadie Green, Mrs. Vernon Claytor, Ted Burrell, Ernest Leue, Norma Sullivan, Verble Burrell, G. J. Smith, Arthur Casey and Floyd Stewart are others prominent in the group.

The SERA players are available for entertainment engagements throughout towns in the county, Mr. Biesel has announced.

TO PREVENT RUNS IN HOSE

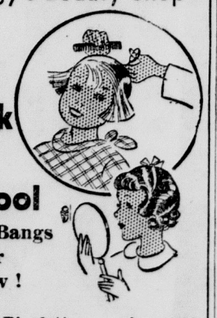

Add a little vinegar to the water in which silk stockings are to be rinsed. It will go far toward preventing runs.

T. H. GLENNS ARE GUESTS AT PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hall Glenn of Santa Ana were among the guests at a dinner party given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hilbreth (Dorothy Mead) in Whittier.

The hostess, a bride of the past summer, is a teacher of French in Whittier college, and she and Mrs. Glenn began their friendship a few years ago in Paris.

STOCKS SOAR TO YEAR'S RECORDS

Many Achieve New High Marks in Scramble; Equities in Demand

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Buyers scrambled for stocks today, pushing many issues 1 to around 3 points higher to new peaks for a year or longer.

Renewed demand for a wide variety of equities puzzled home brokers, but others interpreted that spurt partly to high hopes for fall and winter business and to the plethora of idle funds in the country. Considerable short covering was noted as well as so-called professional bullish activities.

Bank Stock Rally

A strong undertone was shown by grains at Chicago, and cotton improved. Secondary carrier and utility bonds were the principal firm performers in the loans division. U. S. government securities were only about steady. Foreign exchanges slipped in terms of the dollar. Over-the-counter bank stocks rallied moderately.

New 1935 tops were recorded by Chrysler, Inland Steel, Bendix, Douglas Aircraft, Case, Johns-Manville and Westinghouse. Among other gainers were U. S. Steel, American Can, Du Pont, General Motors, Bethlehem, Western Union, Caterpillar Tractor, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, U. S. Smelting, Phillips Petroleum and Corn Exchange Bank. The majority of the power company shares advanced fractionally.

Followers of the automotive groups seemed impressed by reports from Detroit that, due to the "controlled production" policy of the larger companies, output and distribution are running a close race and new models are expected to find the floors of many dealers bare.

Rail Holders Pleased

Holders of rail issues were pleased with forecasts that last week's car loading figures, which will be officially made known tomorrow may have reached the highest level since November, 1931.

Announcement that the treasury's new 3½-year note offering at the record low rate of 1½ per cent will be oversubscribed about 2½ times interested banking quarters.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 5. (AP)—Stocks surged upward today, with the buying demand pushing many issues to new highs for the year.

Brokers thought that good business news, combined with the growing volume of idle money in the country, helped to spur the upturn. Advances ranged from fractions to 3 or more points. The closing was strong. Transfers approximated 1,950,000 shares.

Grain Market

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Sept. 5. (AP)—Stimulated by assertions Europe has started buying Canadian wheat on the largest scale in two years, wheat values climbed today.

Big purchases of wheat from Canada for shipment overseas were reported as having taken place today as well as yesterday. Much comment, too, was heard today as to smallness of the amount of millable wheat which will be available this season in domestic spring crop territory.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅞-1⅜c above yesterday's finish, Dec. 92⅛-98¼c; corn ⅛-1½c up, Dec. 56⅝-56¾; oats, ⅛-½c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

CITRUS HURT BUT LITTLE IN GALE

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 5. (AP)—Florida's maturing citrus crop was reported today by Harold Crews, assistant general manager of the Florida Citrus exchange, as only slightly damaged by the high winds accompanying the hurricane which skirted the peninsula.

Loss is greatest, he said, in the coastal counties of the citrus belt—Lee, Sarasota, Manatee, Hillsborough, and Pinellas. But he added:

Found No Damage

"On the east coast from Fort Pierce northward, including the Indian river section, practically no fruit is off, and there has been practically no loss in the interior part of the state. I've checked all over the northern part of the fruit belt, and found no damage."

Crews said he had a report from a big grove in Lee county (Fort Myers) 25 miles inland that 35 per cent of the fruit is on the ground. He said it was expected that the loss in Pinellas county (St. Petersburg) would be greater than in any other section.

He added that it would be several days before an accurate check can be made of the loss.

Other Estimates

M. H. Wyatt, field manager of the Bradenton Citrus Growers association, estimated damage in that area at 35 to 40 per cent to grapefruit and 15 to 20 per cent to oranges.

Some growers and packers in Fort Myers estimated the Lee county loss in grapefruit would be between 35 and 45 per cent, but were agreed the damage to oranges, still green at this season, was less than 10 per cent.

TWO PROJECTS ARE APPROVED

Holding an adjourned session this morning, members of the board of supervisors approved applications for two work projects, one to the Public Works administration and the other through the Works Progress administration.

Assistance of PWA in construction of another tubercular ward at the county hospital was one of the projects approved. It is estimated that the new unit will cost approximately $40,000, of which the county will provide 55 per cent and the federal government 45 per cent.

The second project was for conducting a traffic density survey as required by a recently enacted state law. This application will be filed through WPA, the project to provide work for 20 men for approximately 10 months and to cost $10,000. The county's share of the cost will be $2000.

Under a law recently enacted by the state legislature every county is required to submit to the state on July 1 each year a report covering the classification of the types of surface used on all highways in the county and a check of traffic density.

STARTING FIRES CHARGED PAIR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP) Mrs. Gertrude Goodnight and Lafayette Littlefield today faced federal indictments charging they deliberately started fires in national forest reserves.

One indictment charged that Mrs. Goodnight, after a row with a neighbor, set fire in the Sierra national forest near the Merced-Yosemite highway.

Littlefield was indicted on a charge of lighting a fire "to see what would happen" in the Santa Barbara national forest.

Mrs. Goodnight's bond was set at $500, Littlefield's at $2500.

TRIO SPEAK AT MORNING CLUB

Members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club at their meeting held in the Main cafeteria today, heard three of their members speak on subjects relating to their own particular lines of business. The program was arranged by Rodney Bacon, and included addresses by Hubert L. Bown, Orange county representative of the General Tires company, William Hunt, manager of the Valencia Trucking company, and Ray Felton, managing editor of The Journal.

GOODYEAR TO ERECT NEW STATION

The Goodyear Tire company's store here was making plans today to move into a new super-service establishment to be erected at the southwest corner of Main and Walnut streets. W. T. Sebelle, Goodyear manager for Orange county, said that a deal was completed yesterday whereby the company has leased the Main and Walnut street property from Dr. Garland Ross. The Goodyear store is now located at 307 East First street.

As soon as buildings on the property are removed and plans are drafted for the new structure, building operations will begin and the company will prepare to move into an up-to-date super-service station providing all modern services, Mr. Sebelle said.

The cost of the structure and the type of architecture to be used are still to be decided upon, he said. It is anticipated that the store will move within three or four months.

The property at Main and Walnut has a frontage of 100 feet and is 135 feet deep, providing ample space for a complete establishment, Mr. Sebelle said. There are now two houses on the property, which will be moved by Dr. Ross, the Goodyear manager said.

In addition to carrying Goodyear tires, the complete super-service station will provide gasoline, oil, lubrication and greasing service, brake adjustments and all other services performed by the modern station of this type, Mr. Sebelle said.

WIFE OF FORMER PASTOR PASSES IN LA CRESCENTA

Many Santa Anans were grieved to learn today of the death of Mrs. Kate Benton, wife of the Rev. W. H. L. Benton, who was pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah here for 10 years, prior to 1928. Mrs. Benton died unexpectedly yesterday at their home in La Crescenta, where the Rev. Mr. Benton was rector emeritus of St. Luke's Church in the Mountains.

Active in church and social enterprises of Santa Ana, Mrs. Benton was superintendent of the Sunday school at the Church of the Messiah during her husband's rectorship. She was a member of Ebell club and prominent in the various women's activities in Santa Ana. The Rev. Mr. Benton also was chaplain of the Elks lodge here.

The Bentons came to Santa Ana direct from San Diego, having previously had a parish in Pittsburgh, Pa. In addition to the Rev. Mr. Benton, who has been an invalid since his retirement from the La Crescenta pastorate, Mrs. Benton is survived by her daughter, Miss Kate Phipps Benton, of the Van Nuys library. She also leaves Miss Jean Battersby, an adopted daughter.

Funeral services will be announced later by the Crippen Mortuary at Verdugo City.

RIVER PIRATES ACTIVE

PAOTINGFU, China. (AP)—Old-style river priates have reappeared in North China. Four junks plying the Taching river between here and Tientsin were robbed by a band of 40 men who took $6,000 worth of loot and held 14 passengers for ransom.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE GIANT

Christopher Columbus Crow knew that if he struggled to get away while he was being held with such a firm, strong grip that he might injure a wing. It would be better to wait for an opportunity. He had noticed too, to his great relief, that the enormous man did not have a gun in his other hand, nor could Christopher see one sticking out from his pocket.

But as he was held now he seemed to feel less fear and more surprise.

Who Is It?

Who was this creature who was holding him? He was certainly a giant.

An then Christopher began to be a wicked giant who might do shiver again with fear. Could he harm to a poor, miserable crow?

Christopher opened his beak to speak.

But the tall, tall man was speaking now:

"I used to have a tame crow once," he said. "It was so I could pretty well understand him and he could understand me. Now tell me, crow, can you make out what I am saying?"

"Yes, caw, caw," answered Christopher.

"I wonder if you can," the man continued. "Now if you know what I am saying won't you caw three times slowly and then three times quickly."

Doing Very Well

"Caw, caw, caw, caw-caw-caw," returned Christopher.

"We're getting on famously, the giant and the crow," said the very tall man.

"Getting on where?" thought Christopher, and then shivered a little for the man had admitted he was a giant.

SHUTDOWN PROPOSAL FOR OIL FIELDS REJECTED

The proposal for a complete shutdown on production at the Huntington Beach, Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill oil fields met a complete rebuff last night. It was rejected at a meeting of oil men in Long Beach, at which stabilization of production was sought through a program of curtailment.

The suggestion of clamping down on production in the three fields was put forward last week, after major oil companies shoved the offered price for crude oil down to 50 cents a barrel. It had been at the dollar mark.

A renewed effort to stabilize prices and production was under way today, according to a report by the Associated Press. Directors of the Oil Producers Sales agency from throughout the state were to meet today at Los Angeles to discuss steps looking toward unanimous approval of a production curtailment agreement.

Important support of the curtailment proposal was voted last night by members of the Southern California Oil Producers association at the Long Beach meeting.

With the state oil umpire supervising the plan and setting the various production quotas, the new plan was offered as a substitute for the now dead NRA oil code and its immediate successor, likewise abandoned, a state control board.

Retail gasoline prices have not been materially affected by the crude oil controversy.

PROBE DEATH OF UTOPIAN LEADER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5. (AP)—Police today continued an investigation of the death of William F. Haines, 63, leader of the semi-secret Utopian society.

Hane's body was found in the Hermosa Beach surf Sunday, and friends expressed fear he may have been attacked by robbers and thrown in the ocean. They said he had saved several thousand dollars.

SEEK MISSING MEN IN BOAT

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 5. (AP)—Two swordfish hunters aboard the 40-foot Baltic were the object of a coast guard search today.

The fishermen, Nick Petrov and William Ushin, of San Pedro, put out to sea August 24, and have not been heard from since. Relatives asked the coast guard to look for them.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By FRANK M'INTYRE
Captain Henry Of Show Boat

IT'S A grand feeling to be able to get away from my chosen profession, acting, to go back to the good old newspaper game, where I got my start. I've always had a place in my heart for newspapers because of my early training on them and so I jumped at the chance to write a column for my friend, Homer Canfield. A lot has passed under the bridge since those early days when I worked on the Detroit Free Press. At the time I broke away from the newspaper game and got into acting things were much different than they are now. Instead of requiring the attention of both the eyes and ears of my audience, I now have to work with people's ears only—all kinds of ears, big and little. Off hand, that sounds like a step backward. But it really isn't. Making your audience visualize actions that you are supposed to be going through is no mean trick. The effect is obtained by tone coloring and by a particular style of projection.

Some fellows have a certain God-given voice for radio. Their natural knack of projection makes them a success. I can stand far away from the "mike" and project my voice perfectly, talking in an ordinary tone, while others can shout right into a microphone and not have their voice register as forcefully.

What a difference there is between the actors of today and those of my early days in the theater. In order to be successful on the old legitimate stage an actor had to serve his apprenticeship in a stock company. Many of the actors who achieved great renown started out by sweeping the stage and by carrying a spear in a mob scene.

The great legitimate theater which used to function on an area the size of a dollar is now thriving on a dime. The road is gone and in all key cities the foremost legitimate theaters have been replaced by moving picture houses.

Because of the fact that the legitimate theater has practically passed out of the picture there is no opportunity for young people to get the proper schooling. This predicament obtains for actors, stage directors, managers and producers in every department. The standard of entertainment has naturally fallen off.

So we have amateurs, playing in amateur playwrights' plays to amateur audiences who have never had the opportunity to appreciate the fine acting of the old legitimate theater.

All this is untrue in radio. Out of thousands who try out, only the finest actors are engaged. The standard of entertainment goes higher each year on the radio because there are 30,000,000 people who have developed a taste for symphonies, fine singing voices and good acting. When the slump came in the legitimate stage, players turned to the air. But the theaters' loss is radio's gain.

MACHINE TO MAKE ARTIFICIAL RADIUM IS BEING BUILT

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 5. (AP) A gigantic "vacuum race track" for making artificial radium and transmitting matter by smashing atoms with 4,000,000-volt "bullets" took shape today at the University of Rochester.

The machine, known officially as a magnetic accelerator, or cyclotron, will be the second largest of its kind in the world. It was invented by Professor E. O. Lawrence of the University of California and Dr. M. S. Livingston of Cornell university, who have cooperated in designing the apparatus being constructed here under the leadership of Prof. Lee A. du Bridge, of the University of Rochester.

The accelerator makes radioactive materials out of ordinary salt, prosphorus and other common substances. Pathologists say the biological importance of artificially produced radium may some day rival that of the natural product.

In construction of the Rochester accelerator, more than 14 tons of high purity iron and four miles copper wire windings will be used.

READY MADE WIFE
BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Laurie and Rex Moore have decided to give up their masquerade as man and wife, innocently undertaken for innocent purpose, but now a danger to them both. Rex has left for the country to prepare to fly the Pacific; Laurie continues to work for Mark Albery. But she has given him a hint that perhaps some day she and Rex will be "divorced." And Albery has already told Laurie that he loves her.

Chapter 34
SAFE OFFER

"Laurie," said Albery, and a wave of heat came into his voice from the flame of desire that was consuming him. "You know I love you. Don't pretend! I am glad. I can't tell you how glad I am. You must break with him at once. What's the good of waiting? Let him get on with his job. I'll still be behind him, for your sake. But you mustn't work any more. You must let me look after you."

"Oh, thank you, Mr. Albery!" she faltered. "But I would much rather work. I love my work. I should hate to have nothing to do."

"You will have everything to do—what all women love to do, especially when they are loved by a man as I love you. You shall have everything in the world, all the pretty clothes and jewels you want. We will travel. You shall have a villa in the south, an apartment in Paris or Rome—where you like. Whatever you want will be joy to give you."

She gazed at him in speechless amazement.

"Mr. Albery, are you asking me to marry you?"

He gave her a look that baffled her; it was so full of some suggestion that she could not grasp.

"My dear girl, I'm not a marrying man. But I will give you a position in which you will be honored and respected by everyone you meet."

She gave a cry and sprang from her chair. Before he could stop her she was at the door. She clung to the handle and flung swift, withering words at him, her eyes blazing.

"How dare you insult me like that? I won't stay here another minute. I'm going and I'm never coming back. I'll never set foot in this building again."

Her passion of outraged fury was exhausted. She opened the door with difficulty, white to the lips, and went out of the room, leaving Albery staring after her with uncomprehending, but baffled and cruel and merciless eyes.

But the next day, about 6 o'clock in the afternoon, Albery's car purred up to the little tumbledown house in Westminster where his ex-secretary lived.

It happened that the old and rheumatic landlady was standing at the front door, having just parted from a visitor.

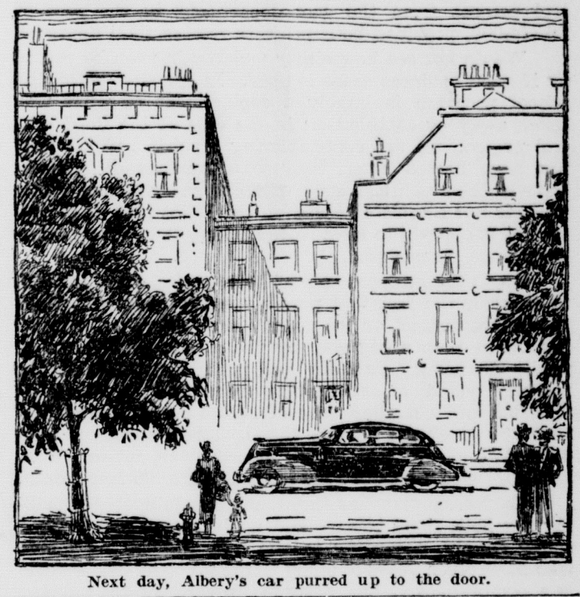

"Is Mrs. Rex Moore at home?" Albery asked her.

Seeing a grand gentleman and a grand car, and knowing that Mrs. Moore had lately been mixed up with all sorts of people, the landlady directed him upstairs.

"Right at the top sir. You'll find Mrs. Moore. I'm afraid it's a bit of a climb."

So it was that Albery came upon Laurie, unexpectedly and unannounced, when, after knocking at the first door, he found her in her pretty, simple, flowery sitting room.

He saw that she had a letter in her hand, and that she had been crying. She must have been crying a great deal, for her soft blue eyes were washed out, and they looked through red rims at him with an expression of violent revolt.

Next day, Albery's car purred up to the door.

"Please forgive me," he said in his smoothest voice, regarding her with eloquent eyes, filled with contrition. "Your landlady told me to come up."

Laurie stood with her back to her quaint old dormer window on the ledge of which flourished geraniums and cherry-pie. She was a figure of icy dignity, and looked extraordinarily young.

"I don't know why you should want to see me, Mr. Albery," Laurie said. "I have nothing to say."

"But I have something to say," he retorted. "And it will be worth your while to listen to me. I am very sorry about yesterday. I was clumsy and stupid, and I don't wonder I offended you. It was altogether a mistake. But now I want to talk to you about Rex Moore."

There was no disturbing note in his voice. It was almost businesslike. It was certainly deeply respectful and very friendly.

The mention of Rex Moore's name decided Laurie.

"What have you to say, Mr. Albery?" she asked coldly. "And in what way do you mean that the unpardonable things you said to me yesterday were a mistake?

"I misjudged you. For you to understand me, I must explain that I know you are not married to Rex Moore."

Her knees gave way and she sank into a chair.

"You know—that? How?"

"A young blackmailing journalist came and told me. He had been making inquiries out in Australia, and there was no record of a marriage between you. I saw at once that he had some grudge against Moore. I bought him off, because I didn't want any gossip about Moore, but I paid him to make more enquiries. You are not married to Rex Moore, are you? Unless, of course, you have married him since he came back?

She shook her head. She couldn't speak.

"So, you see, there was a slight excuse for me, Laurie, as you had been living with Rex Moore as his wife without being married to him—"

She gave a cry.

"What do you mean? You knew this, and you never said a word to either of us! What do you think?

"My dear girl, what is there to think? I suppose you had been fond of each other in Australia, and when you thought he was dead, you passed yourself off as his widow. And when he came back—well, you were very glad to see him again, and carried on."

"You are all wrong!" Laurie cried, almost choking with indignation. "I will tell you the truth—not because of myself, or that I care what you think of me, but because he had nothing to do with it at all. He did not know me in Australia. I never set eyes on him until he came back from America the other day."

FOR SELF PRESERVATION

SANTA ANA is facing two important bond elections this month and next.

The Santa Ana High School district will seek authorization of bonds in the sum of $180,000 to finish the $328,000 building project for the high school and Lathrop Junior High school.

In addition to that issue, Santa Anans will vote on the county's flood control project, which calls for $6,620,000 in county bonds. Both of these measures are vital; both should be studied and both should be supported.

In each case taxpayers are to receive liberal aid from the government, the school board from the Public Works administration in the sum of $148,000 and the flood control project from the war department in the sum of $6,374,000, provided both projects receive final approval.

We do not see how either undertaking can be passed by if good business sense is used. In the first place, the school program is largely a replacement of what was taken away by earthquake; in the case of the flood control project, we are contemplating a subject which long has been booted about because of various differences, some of them political, some of them purely selfish. While there is not complete accord on the Elliot plan as it now stands, it appears to have more backing than at any other time since its proposal.

As to the business side of both projects, one has but to consider the fact that possibly never again will either the school district or the county have an opportunity to benefit in such a big way by the government's plan of public financing. Patriotic and public-spirited Fullerton recently voted an elementary rebuilding program of $156,000 and a similar issue of school bonds because the need was great and because the city's best business heads decided it would be throwing money away not to. Brea also approved a school bond issue of $115,000 last month.

The water plan has the double advantage of providing for both flood control and an increased and assured water supply, according to the best engineering minds who have given years of study to the problem. The scheme is a comprehensive one, designed to care for the varying interests of the several districts within its area. Possibly no plan ever proposed will settle the water fight for all time, but this one approaches that idea and deserves the utmost study and consideration.

Neither orange grower nor city business man can afford to neglect either issue.

RINGING THE BELL AGAIN

WHAT sounds something like a new Declaration of Independence has been drawn up and signed by potato farmers in New Jersey. The farmers have been ordered by the AAA to curtail crops and regulate themselves in various arbitrary ways. Their reply:

"We shall produce on our land such potatoes as we may wish to produce, and dispose of them in such a manner as we may deem proper."

That's the good old American spirit, and probably most citizens will applaud it. Secretary Wallace, who seems to have succeeded in creating an abnormal food shortage, doubtless will denounce it.

The potato farmers' defiance merely restates an old national principle: That a man has a right to do what he likes with his own life and his own property, as long as he injures no one else.

In a nation in which millions are underfed, it is ridiculous to maintain that anyone can be injured by food production. Millions, however, are hurt by fantastic government schemes to create scarcity of food—at the expense of the very people who don't get enough of it.

We need more Declarations of Independence—from farmers and businessmen and wage-earners and every group that has felt the chill, dead hand of political regulation.

It is time the American people told their temporary rulers that they propose to run their own lives in their own way—as their forefathers did.

"Mere party membership and loyalty can no longer be the exclusive test of those who would serve government," says President Roosevelt. We do hope Jim Farley didn't hear that. It would cramp his style frightfully.

HUEY LONG'S VICTIMS

IT IS too early to announce that Huey Long dug his own political grave with his mouth when he filibustered social security and other funds to death on the last night of Congress. Furthermore, it is not so very important. We are among those who believe that sooner or later the Kingfish will suffer the sentence of oblivion that passes on the shallow and noisy demagogues it raises to moments of power.

But we are concerned with the victims of the filibuster, particularly the 20 million working men, aged and blind poor and crippled and under-privileged children whom the Social Security Act would have benefitted immediately.

The contributory old-age annuity system will not go into effect until 1942, hence the loss of immediate funds will not affect this section of the act. But Federal grants to old age pension states must now be postponed until next April. Thus, the 35 states and two territories that have old-age pension laws—and those that might have passed such laws in special sessions this fall—must wait for Federal aid. Under the new act a potential 1,500,000 needy old folks past 65 would be drawing $30 or more a month. Until funds are available the present scanty average of $14.69 a month probably will have to suffice. Only 230,000 old folks now draw pensions.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Most of us, not born in New York, often feel walled in by a starchy cosmopolitanism from which there seems no escape. The familiar small town things of our formative years seem far away and we are never quite able to shake off this insularity.

Yet a 30-minute ride from the metropolitan outskirts in any direction and we are completely out of it. There are a hundred villages and hamlets that seem as remote as a way out yonder cross-roads. The same types, the same sort of civic stagnation. Towns that started from taw and got nowhere.

In a short before-dinner drive, one may come upon straggly communities where cows are being driven in from pasture, where dinner is supper and the back porch tin basin is still in use. Shirt-sleeved men are pitching horseshoes in front of the blacksmith shop.

Oil lamps burn on the sitting room table, chickens have gone to roost and old Towser is stretched in the side-yard for a dreamless sleep. There are the friendly little barber shops with the backroom banjoist, rear yards sprouting with sunflowers and the leanin, mediaeval chalet.

Helen Menken and Judith Anderson were the only dramatic actresses on Broadway through the entire blistering stretch of summer. Their Pulitzer prize play at the Empire was the stage's sole summer hope. The double stardom resulted in the usual buzzing about professional jealousy—Miss Menken greeting Miss Anderson in mufti with contemptuous sniffs and vice vera. The fact is they are boon companions but once in awhile just to delight the gossipers they put on a little act, each giving the other the marble eye, that starts the tongues wagging.

The only hatred I've ever known on the level between stage stars was that of the Russell brothers, low comedians in second string theaters and variety. They were rowdy female impersonators of the Bridget types, and brothers. With a mutual hatred that was venomous. On the stage they clowned and smacked each other around but off they lived in separate hotels and for the last 11 years of their lives never spoke to each other. The same thing was said of the Roger brothers—remember them In Havana, In Panama, etc? But this was the invention of a press agent.

There is, however, usually a strain between stars. Familiarity breeds the usual contempt plus, of course, the peacock pomp that often inflates the actor beyond endurance. Such boyhood companions as Montgomery and Stone had their days, weeks and sometimes months of coolness. But when the show closed they were pals again. There was a season, too, when Montgomery and Stone, in a show featuring Elsie Janis, had a three cornered pout. None spoke to the others off stage. The staunchest of the theatrical hookups, said to be entirely without friction, is that of Clark and McCullough.

The enduring popularity of Elsie Janis was strikingly illustrated in the universal solicitude over her fate in a recent auto smash-up. At the hospital where she was taken the doctors were forced to issue hourly reports long after the crisis. The Algonquin had a special bulletin board. Reporters camped at the entrance in relays and London and Paris were especially insistent for frequent reports. The actress has been in semi-retirement and living in the pretentious country home of her affluent days at Tarrytown.

* * *

One of the easiest phone numbers to find is that of The Zzyx. It's last in the book and belongs to a little group at the Harvard club. All the members have a hard time remembering phone numbers so they rigged up a scheme that would merely mean looking up the last number in the book. That's what a Harvard education does for folk.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Premier Laval has advanced a new and very secret formula for the settlement of the Ethiopian controversy. Highly confidential reports on his latest inspiration have been cabled to Washington on the eve of the League of Nations session which opened yesterday.

The plan is to let the Italians attack, win two or three important victories, including the capture of Adowa (where Italians were massacred in 1896). Then let France and England step in to bring about peace.

According to the confidential cables, Laval has indicated that this plan already has been approved by Premier Mussolini. All Il Duce wants is a chance to parade his triumphant legions through the streets of Rome and subsequently begin the economic conquest of Ethiopia.

This conquest, according to the Laval plan, would be quite plausible after Italy had administered two or three defeats to the undisciplined, unequipped armies of Emperor Haile Selassie.

Italy would build railroads, import farmers, police Ethiopia with Italian troops, gradually bring the one independent empire of Africa complete under Fascist flag.

FRANCO-ITALIAN ALLIANCE

ONE thing about this plan is extremely significant — the fact that it is put forward by France. In other words, France is hand in glove with Italy in her present plans of conquest.

Another significant fact is that this plan will not be discussed publicly at the special league session.

There will be many high sounding phrases, many appeals for peace, many peace formulas. But the sum total of all these public maneuverings will be ph-h-h-h-t!

The league will get nowhere. There was a day when it could. Even as recently as 1931, when Henry L. Stimson threw more American cooperation behind the league than ever has been known before, it might have succeeded in blocking the Japanese conquest of Manchuria.

But France and Britain were not interested in Manchuria. It was too far away. So they stabbed Stimson in the back. The league flopped.

Now when Europe is vitally interested, the league cannot come back. It is too late. Public confidence has evaporated.

UNCLE SAM ON SIDELINES

AND this time the United States is watching from the sidelines.

The reason Laval is putting forward a plan which means the eventual conquest of Ethiopia is that for the first time in years, France has deserted the British.

She has gone over to the side of Italy in exchange for favors received. It has been a shrewd piece of bargaining.

Here is what Italy gave to France:

1. Maintenance of an independent Austria—keeping the Nazis out of the chief buffer state which prevents Hitler from reaching into southern Europe.

2. Italian military cooperation with France in case of attack from Germany.

Here, in turn, is what France gave to Italy:

1. A free hand in Ethiopia, plus about 400 square miles of French territory which controls the mouth of the Red Sea.

2. Support of the Italian lira by the Bank of France, thus preventing Italian currency from depreciating too violently.

All this leaves Britain out in the cold. That is why she has been so anxious for at least moral support from the United States.

HULL HUMOR?

SO FAR, the state department has been extremely critical of Italy, privately, but publicly has kept aloof. In one conversation Secretary Cordell Hull made it quite clear to Italian Ambassador Rosso where American sympathies were. But being a timorous soul he has been afraid to make this attitude public.

So the other day, after talking with Ambassador Rosso, he said:

"When you leave my office you probably will be cross-questioned by the press.

"And I think you had best tell them that we were talking about the new commercial treaty. To make this idea certain, you had best go see Mr. Grady" (in charge of commercial treaties). "And don't go to see Mr. Dunn" (in charge of Ethiopian-Italian studies).

Ambassador Rosso obeyed.

Another important fact cabled confidentially to Washington is that the Italian general staff has vigorously opposed Mussolini.

So strenuous was this opposition that General Badoglio, chief of the supreme war council, was side-tracked in favor of a much older and amenable officer—the former Minister of War General di Bono, one of those who marched with Mussolini on Rome.

Di Bono's knowledge of military strategy is doubtful, but his loyalty is unquestioned. He is in command of the greatest international tragedy since the World war. What its final outcome will be, no one either in Geneva or Washington, can predict.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

BRAIN TRUSTER TOM CORCORAN, recently under fire before the house lobby investigating committee, has just been accorded a new expression of the President's high regard for him. The brilliant young lawyer was made a trustee, with several members of the cabinet, of the recently reorganized Electric Home and Farm authority, which will finance the purchase of electric appliances by home and farm owners. . . . Madame Secretary Frances Perkins is having a hard time getting comfortable in her office suite. For the third time in the year she has occupied it, the rooms have been rearranged. The latest renovation removed one partition, put up a new one and added a door. . . . The dramatics program of the Works Progress administration has been allotted $3,000,000 for putting on theatricals throughout the country during the next 12 months. It is estimated that the program will employ some 50,000 actors and theater workers. . . . Tall, hadsome Floyd B. Olson, farmer-laborite Governor of Minnesota, is the latest left-winger to break with the administration. In the last few weeks he has several times openly assailed Rooseveltian policies. The question politicos are now asking is what effect this split will have on Olson's anticipated candidacy for the senate seat now held by Tom Schall, hysterical anti-New Deal foe.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Public Education—a Real Social Benefit

School begins! Few events in the eternal round of the seasons touch the average American household so closely. Great political and social problems, national and international movements, lowering clouds of conflict, the clash of interests everywhere, fade into the background when school is opening. Johnny's new teacher, the studies he will pursue the books and supplies he must have, the new shoes, or perhaps new tires, which he needs—these are topics at the breakfast table, pushing aside the world's racket and feverish heat. This is one subject of common concern to all, one truly American problem.

Thirty million youthful citizens in this far-flung country will stream through the welcoming doors of American schools. Nothing else like it anywhere. No people ever before conceived such a widespread application of the socializing effects of free democratic education.

The American nation without schools is unthinkable. The very name of America, the appealing lure which it has had for 300 years, the dynamics of its growth—the very soul of the land revolves around the thought of equality.

* * *

And without educational opportunities for every person equality does not exist. Extremists of every stripe may denounce the injustices which prevail in this country but through the vast equalizing influence of public education the American people have enjoyed, we are enjoying, a wider degree of social and economic equality than ever before fell to the lot of man. And as the benefits of the schools penetrate to every corner of the land, in fuller measure, "every man a king" will come nearer realization than could possibly be the case by any "share the wealth" or other hare-brained scheme of helping common folks enjoy the blessings of modern life.

* * *

Real social equality does not exist in equal sharing of material things, of stuff to eat and wear and use. True equality lies in full participation in mental and spiritual pleasures, the inestimable blessings of personal growth and the sharing of widening vistas and expanding horizons of life. Free democratic education opens the gates to individual and group resources as does no other enterprise in the range of human activity. The winsome appeal of literature and the fine arts, the world-changing facts of science and mathematics, the skill of hand and brain—all these features of education are essentially democratic and equalizing in nature.

Nor are the costs of education to be reckoned as public burdens. No parent could possibly provide the educational facilities for his own children which the public schools provide for all the children. The burden of public education is based on the plan of drawing on the weath of the state wherever they may be. It is the largest and most successful venture in sharing social benefits which the wit of man has so far devised. And this is America's most significant contribution to man's great ultimate good.

Two Travelers

(Christian Science Monitor)

Fantastic though it may seem, a certain analogy exists between Laurence Sterne, peripatetic author of that delightful eighteenth century classic "A Sentimental Journey," and H. W. Horwill, whose recently published "Modern American Usage" makes of a dictionary light but profitable reading.

Both found their travels abroad yielded much fascination. Unlike some travelers who love to lecture upon the foibles of the stranger within whose gates they sojourn, they observe the unfamiliar with appreciation and comment upon it with a wise urbanity. In the case of Mr. Horwill the result is to open a New World vocabulary to his fellow-countrymen.

No longer need the Englishman visiting America be puzzled when a hotel clerk asks him if he is "checking out" instead of "leaving." Or baffled at an office sign, "No solicitors or peddlers allowed in this building," because to him solicitor means a lawyer with chambers in Lincoln's or Gray's Inn. Thanks to the observant Mr. Horwill he will learn that the useful verb "to fix" covers, like the French word "faire," a multitude of meanings.

In America, mecca of the delicatessen proprietor, foods come in "cans" but the British housewife buys a "tin" of salmon. It takes the indefatigable Mr. Horwill's pursuit after knowledge to inform many Americans, however, that in their own country Webster says a can can be not a can but a jar of glass or earthenware.

Hollywood, of course, has done much to make the American idiom feel at home in Britain. To "stand for" things and "fall for" persons are today parts of colloquial English speech, and the cinema has taught that "drummer" is a good American synonym for commercial traveler.

On the other hand drugstore refuses to be acclimated, probably because the difference between the staid, conservative "pharmaceutical chemist"— with its calm, almost ecclesiastical atmosphere—and that bustling emporium the drugstore is too startling. And it is probable that when Willis J. Abbot, in Watching the World Go By, wrote "Fat, jolly and a good mixer, he made friends on every hand," Britishers were puzzled as to what the genial single-taxer, Tom Johnson, "mixed."

Altogether such treatise by an Englishman on American usage can be helpful to Englishmen and Americans conversing in their more or less common language.

Remarkable Remarks

Does not any woman, marrying the man she loves, enter into a "prison" of some sort? For some women that prison is mental, its walls the limited mentality of their husbands.—Grace Golden Leonard, who married Wisconsin professor "imprisoned" by his fear of travel.

Money is being spent on those who do not have anything, and, instead of helping the unemployed, is creating a class of unemployables.—Ex-Senator Simeon D. Fess, Ohio.

Human life consists in mutual service. No grief, no pain, misfortune or broken heart is excuse for cutting off one's life while any power of service remains.—Charlotte Perkins Gilman, noted writer who committed suicide.

Being sympathetic all I can do is to try to get some one to be a candidate whom Frank can defeat.

Complaint department doing good today. Another friend slips in to tell me that he stopped for his own shadow the other day. Deserves a restful trip. Hope he has it.

This story from an attorney, who said that his office once upon a time sent a member of the firm to a nearby town to interview a witness. When he arrived he had forgotten the name of the man he was to interview, and wired back to the firm for the information. He received an answer from the office, which contained the name of the party to be interviewed with the additional info: "And your name is Johnson."

Ed. Ainsworth, migrating correspondent for the Los Angeles Times, takes cognizance of the valiant fight Phil Stanton is making to regain his health, by commenting as follows: "Mebbe you'd be kinda interested in how folks are comin' along out this way. For instance, that fine fellow, Phil Stanton, in his most welcome house by the side of road over Anaheim way, a real home of hospitality, despite the heavy hand that sickness has laid upon it. He's slowly roundin' into the old fightin' spirit that has made his life so useful to Southern California and far beyond, and now gets down at his desk a portion of the time. There's friendship for you, and nobody is pullin' any harder for him to get back in the harness again than his hundreds of friends. Without friendship, Phil would have been sunk long ago. With their encouragement he's on the mend for fair and what a day it's goin' to be when he rounds back in full workin' shape again, to pull his share, and more, of the load."
